URGE PRIVATE USE MUSCLE SHOALS

COMMISSION MAKES UNANIMOUS REPORT ON MOOT QUESTION

CORPORATION OWNED BY FARM ORGANIZATIONS URGED AS OPERATORS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Private operation of Muscle Shoals, preferably by a "corporation exclusively owned and controlled by organizations of farmers," was recommended today in Muscle Shoals commission report to President Hoover and governors of Alabama and Tennessee.

The commission included three members appointed by the governor of Tennessee, three by the governor of Alabama and three named by President Hoover. Governor Henry H. Horton, who made the report public here, withheld comment pending a study of its contents.

The report recommended that Cove creek dam, above Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee river in east Tennessee, be constructed by the government.

It was recommended that the shoals properties be operated "primarily" for quantity production of fertilizer and fertilizer concentrates, but the commission also advocated use of the properties for the manufacture of chemicals and for agricultural experiment and research.

As to electricity produced at the shoals, the report said fertilizer and chemical manufacture should be given first claim on the power output, but added that should there still be a surplus, provision should be made for its sale, states, counties, municipalities and chemical operations to have preference.

Hoover to Submit Report to Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A report of the Muscle Shoals commission recommending private operation of the Alabama power and nitrate plant will be submitted to congress by President Hoover.

In a brief statement making public the report, the chief executive said:

"Its conclusions speak for themselves. At an appropriate time I shall transmit the report to congress.

At the same time, the White House made public three additional reports. Two deal with the cost of the government of transmitting and selling Muscle Shoals power and a study of the economics of proposed power and navigation dams.

The third, by Dr. Henry G. Knight, chief of the bureau of chemistry and soils of the department of agriculture, voiced the opinion that the Muscle Shoals project "is no longer necessary for the production of nitrogen for national defense."

Claims Suicide

Mrs. Emily R. Cobb (upper) 26, beautiful Mansfield, Mass., society matron and mother of two children, sobbed out a hysterical denial to police that she had shot her husband, Justin L. Cobb, Jr., (lower), to death during a drinking orgy. Guarded and charged with the fatal shooting, Mrs. Cobb insists her husband was a suicide.

But Who Wants To Wait Fifteen Hundred Years

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Last Sunday an Omaha newspaper told about Dr. Leopold Bauer of Austria, depositing a shilling in the Bank of England, at London, with instructions that his will would contain the provision that the shilling was to remain in the bank at interest for 1500 years.

Then, wrote Dr. Bauer, the bank was to step out and "buy the American continent and a few other things it might want."

The idea intrigued E. V. Gustafson, former Council Bluffs city clerk, and he immediately went into a huddle with himself.

Gustafson emerged from the huddle last night and delivered the information that at the end of 1500 years, supposing the shilling to be worth 25 cents and the interest five per cent and compounded semi-annually, the total deposit would be:

Four thousand fifty-one octillions, five hundred eleven septillions, eight hundred seventy-two sextillions, three hundred eleven quintillion, seven hundred seventeen quadrillion, seven hundred sixty-four trillion, eight hundred ninety-six billion, three hundred nine million, five hundred ninety thousand, three hundred twenty-three dollars and twenty cents.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS ANOTHER MOVE READY IN OIL FIGHT

ALLRED DIRECTING HIS OFFICE MANEUVERS FROM UNKNOWN PLACE

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—(AP)— Texas' attorney general, complaining of anti-trust law violations by 15 oil corporations and seeking to banish them from the state, has another move up his sleeve in his effort to attach stock of the Magnolia Petroleum Company and the Shell Petroleum Corporation.

Claiming the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Shell Union Oil Corporation, foreign corporations, owned the stock of Magnolia and Shell Texas companies, respectively, he issued writs of attachment and sent them to the sheriff of Dallas county for service. The allegation was that the parent companies were using the subsidiaries as a means of evading the corporation laws of Texas and to escape liabilities under the tax laws.

After the sheriff failed to find any stock, he was to return the writs for further instructions.

James V. Allred, attorney general, was directing his office maneuvers from an unknown hiding place, having departed for an unannounced destination soon after filing the big suit asking eviction and penalties aggregating $17,850,000.

Everett L. Looney, assistant attorney general, said the state had plenty of ammunition in reserve and it would take another shot soon.

"We have other avenues of getting to that stock, but we shall not announce them in advance," he said.

The sparring over attachment of stock was seen as a minor preliminary of the warmly contested litigation that is to ensue over the 33-year-old attorney general's campaign to break what he termed "a nation-wide conspiracy to control and dominate the business of marketing gasoline and petroleum products."

Some of the nation's select legal talent was expected to appear in the court room fight against Allred and his corps of assistants when the case comes to trial, probably early next year. It has been placed on the docket for setting January 4 in Travis county district court.

DALLAS, Nov. 19—(AP)—The old game of "button, button, who's got the button" was not half as complicated, Sheriff Hal Hood of Dallas county decided today, as

SOUTHERN PACIFIC OFFICIAL PROTESTS PERMITS TO TRUCKS

NOT ENOUGH BUSINESS FOR BOTH TRUCKS AND RAILROADS HE SAYS

DALLAS, Nov. 19.—(AP)—L. C. Bouchard of Dallas, general freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific Railroad in North Texas, contended today that railroads of this section should not be subjected to the competition of motor trucks. He claimed that although both trucks and railroads were under regulation of the state railroad commission, there was not enough business to enable both to survive.

His objection was voiced before Pat M. Neff, state railroad commissioner, in connection with the hearing of applications made by 85 truck operators for common carrier permits under the new truck law. Truck operators had applied for authority to do business within a radius of 230 miles of Dallas.

Bouchard told of a decrease in business over the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana, claiming that revenues for October 1931, at Dallas alone were $60,000 less than in the corresponding month of last year. He said the 1931 revenues were about 30 per cent less than those of the same period in 1930.

He blamed the slump in revenues to truck competition principally but was unable to give the exact percentage of loss he believed was caused by trucks.

Louisville Doctor Dies of Sleeping Sickness Thursday

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—(AP) A victim of sleeping sickness for 300 hours, Dr. A. J. Berresheim, 50-year-old Louisville surgeon, died today.

Most victims of the malady die within two weeks after contracting it but Dr. Berresheim had been kept alive by regular injection into his veins of a fluid containing dextrose, which served in the place of food,

Second Woman In Senate

MRS. HATTIE CARAWAY

THE LATE MRS REBECCA FELTON

THE LATE SENATOR CARAWAY

In the loss of her husband, Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, of Arkansas, Mrs. Caraway has gained an honor never before experienced by any American woman in the full sense that it is enjoyed by this comely 54-year-old astute feminine politician of Jonesboro, Ark. Appointed as temporary successor to her husband in the U. S. Senate, Mrs. Caraway will take her seat when congress convenes on December 7 and hold the honor at least until January 12. On that date a special election will be held in Arkansas to determine who will complete Senator Caraway's unfinished term, which runs until March 1933. Mrs. Caraway was preceded in the senate by only one woman, the late Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, of Georgia, who held her honorary seat for only a few hours after taking office.

UNITED STATES IS READY COOPERATE IN LEAGUE EFFORTS

PARIS, Nov. 19.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who has been conferring with leaders of the League of Nations' council regarding the Manchurian dispute, talked this morning with Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese member, and it was reported that the United States was ready to join a concerted international move to get Japan to withdraw her Manchurian troops.

"Things are moving fast," Ambassador Dawes said after Dr. Sze had left his hotel. He declined to amplify that statement, but it was known he had been in communication with Washington and that both he and his government are deeply interested in Manchurian developments.

It was expected that General Dawes would talk with Aristide Briand this afternoon and that the council would ask Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese representative, to present in writing the declaration he made yesterday regarding Japan's demands.

PARIS, Nov. 19—(AP)—The League of Nations council, its back to the wall as a result of the Japanese offensive in Manchuria yesterday, met in secret session again today and international observers predicted China was ready to invoke the nine-power treaty, directly in-

GRANDI CONFIDENT SOME SUCCESS IN AMERICAN SESSION

PREPARES FOR RETURN TO ITALY; CONFERS ON COMMUNIQUE TO BE ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Dino Grandi, the Italian foreign minister, was confident today his conversations with President Hoover would point the way to some measure of relief from world armament and debt burdens.

As the end of his Washington visit approached, Grandi found himself in general agreement with the head of the American government on several subjects of international concern. He was ready for a final conference should Mr. Hoover deem one necessary.

The young minister found the morning of his fourth and final day here free from social engagements, but he looked for many busy periods. There was the prospect of consultations over a joint communique to be issued at the White House covering the general result of the new face to face diplomacy.

Signor and Signora Grandi will leave late tonight for New York, before sailing Friday, November 27, for Europe.

The White House dinner last night afforded Grandi more than an hour of further conversation with the president. The other guests left them apart but Mr. Hoover called in one after the other the four senators present—Borah, Moses, Pittman and Watson.

Today a luncheon with Undersecretary Castle of the state department, a press interview at his hotel, an automobile trip to Mt. Vernon, a radio speech, and a dinner and reception at the Italian embassy tonight with the Ambassador and Signora De Martino of Italy crowded the final program.

Signor Grandi will carry back to his "chief," as he calls Premier Mussolini, a reiteration of the Hoover administration's policy of looking sympathetically on reparations and debt revision, but of leaving it to European initiative.

United States and Italy Are Aligned

FRENCH PEASANT COMES FIRST WITH NATION'S PREMIER

OFFERS CO-OPERATION OF NATION IN SOLVING WORLD PROBLEMS

PARIS, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Pierre Laval, farmer and stock raiser, stands ready to offer his country's cooperation in solving the world's economic troubles but at the same time, for him, the welfare of the French peasant comes first.

"Peasants' toil must be remunerative," the farmer-premier told the Union of Economic Interests yesterday, explaining that France, "an essentially sound nation," would join in efforts to solve world economic troubles, but that her exports must be defended and her home markets protected at a time when no one thought of lowering customs barriers.

"Our agriculture," he said, "is not only a traditional foundation of our stability, but the nearest and surest customer for our industry."

A greater proportion of the people is engaged in agriculture and related enterprises in France than in any other of the western world's great powers and the peasant, with his prudence, shrewdness and solid character, is one of the national boasts of France, where the industrial population is considerably in the minority.

Many of the dominant figures of French political life, including the permier, President Doumer, and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, come from the villages of the provinces and maintain their residence there.

Would Bind Baptists Vote Entirely Dry

ATLANTA, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The social service commission of the Georgia Baptist convention today presented a report which would bind members "never at any time, in any election to cast a vote that would give any encouragement to the foes of prohibition."

The report called the 18th amendment the "greatest piece of social legislation in the history of the country." It admitted imperfect enforcement but asserted it had reduced the consumption of intoxicants by 70 per cent.

In War Zone

Carolyn T. Sewall, known as the "Children's Missionary," who is supervisor of mission out-stations in Tientsin, is reported to be in danger from the violence which is spreading in China from the war front in Manchuria. The outstations are under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The boys' school in Tientsin may be evacuated. Miss Sewall is from Plymouth, Mass.

SOVIET TROOPS IN NORTH MANCHURIA MIGHT MEAN WAR

FORMAL OCCUPATION OF TSITSIHAR BY JAPANESE TOOK PLACE THURSDAY

(By The Associated Press.)

Reports from Tsitsihar said the provincial capital of Heilungkiang was in the grasp of the Japanese army.

A message to the Chinese Eastern Railway officials at Harbin said Japanese troops had entered the walled city early this morning shortly after the last of the Chinese defenders had evacuated.

General Mah Chan-Shan was reported leading his Chinese forces in orderly retreat along the Koshan railway which runs eastward from Tsitsihar.

Dispatches from Anganchi, south of Tsitsihar, said that town was quiet with 250 Chinese railway guards maintaining order.

Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Uanking government, announced he was going to Manchuria immediately.

In Paris China's delegate reiterated his assertion to the League of Nations council that China will not accept direct negotiations with Japan before the Japanese army evacuate Manchuria.

TOKYO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Japanese government today instructed its ambassador at Moscow to convey to Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar for foreign affairs, a friendly warning regarding the danger of serious complications if Russia should send troops into North Machuria.

The ambassador was charged at the same time to reassure the soviet foreign commissar that no damage was done to the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern Railway during yesterday's offensive in the Anganchi area.

A Japanese charge that Russia is "partially responsible" for hostilities in Manchuria was on its way to Moscow today.

The charge was contained in Japan's reply to an earlier note of Litvinoff which complained that Japan was "manufacturing" rumors of soviet interference in the conflict.

The Japanese note, dispatched yesterday to Moscow, declared the Chinese Eastern Railway assisted in transporting Chinese troops to Tsitsihar and Anganchi from the east and west and suggested the soviet government issue a fresh statement declaring it is not furnishing arms or munitions to the Chinese.

Denying the Russian charge that Japanese officials "manufactured" rumors of Russian assistance to General Mah, the reply expressed the belief that these rumors were circulated by the Chinese for the purpose of encouraging their own troops with a belief that Russia was ready to support their cause.

For this reason, Japan replied, Russia should make a complaint to

Liquor and Jury Service Do Not Mix

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Liquor and jury service do not mix, the Fourth court of civil appeals ruled yesterday in reversing a judgment of $43,833.

The court severely rebuked A. F. Dame, foreman of the jury, for "reckless disregard of his obligations and duties." Dame had admitted taking a few drinks with Glen H. Bruner, one of the principals involved in the suit.

"To permit such conduct upon a part of a juror would be a travesty upon the law and a reflection upon the jury system of our state," the court stated.

Tucumcari Gets Snowfall; Cold Hits Amarillo

AMARILLO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Light snow was reported today in Tucumcari, in the northeast part of New Mexico, but weather forecasts indicated no general snow fall was on its way here. However, a cold wind whipped out of the north this morning, sending the mercury down to 37 degrees.

"FLYING BOMBS" WILL PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE NEXT WARS ACCORDING ROBOT INVENTOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—"Big guns!" scoffed Elmer A. Sperry Jr. "They'll play a minor role in military tactics of the future. The flying bomb is the thing."

Sperry, who at 38 has the enthusiasm of a stripling, explained today how the robot pilot, developed by his famous father with the admiring son helping, will revolutionize warfare if the world is ever afflicted with another war.

Meanwhile, it is being devoted to peacetime uses. The Eastern Air Transport today officially sets it to work flying air liners between New York and the south.

"A flying bomb or aerial torpedo," Sperry declared, "is the cheapest way to deliver a ton of explosive to an objective. A gun is the most expensive.

"Say you want to destroy an ammunition depot 500 miles away. A big gun couldn't do it, but an aerial torpedo could. You'd simply fit a cheap plane with a robot pilot and some other gadgets and load it with explosive. Then one dark night, it would take off by itself, with another plane following, controlling it by radio.

"When the flying bomb reached the depot, down it would plunge, blowing everything off the map. Then the human pilot could fly back and sit down to breakfast."

The robot pilot, an essential feature of such a bomb, was developed through the years by the elder Sperry who died in 1930. Perfected with the aid of the son, it is in principle very much like another Sperry automatic pilot, called by mariners "Iron Mike," which keeps heavy steamships ploughing a true course for days through the sea,

EBBING TIDE OF GOLD TURNS AND NOW COMING BACK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—An ebbing tide of gold, greatest ever experienced, has turned and is flowing strongly once more to the American shore.

Within six weeks after Great Britain's abandonment of the gold standard this country lost $730,000,000 of gold, a bulletin of the federal reserve board revealed today. The publication described it as "the largest movement of the metal during a similar period in any country at any time."

Yet the process ended quickly and a commerce department source asserted return of the gold was well under way. This reaction has occurred after every outward gold movement in recent years, leaving the United States with a bigger store each time.

The commerce authority said withdrawal was caused by European apprehensions, partly over a misunderstanding of the proposed National Credit corporation. The movement was labelled a "raid on the dollar."

At the peak of the outward movement, said the reserve board, the American gold stock was still $4,300,000,000 and gold in excess of legal requirement was more abundant than when the movement began,

CORSICANA THEATRES TO GIVE A SPECIAL MIDNIGHT MATINEE SATURDAY FOR UNEMPLOYED

Plans were going forward rapidly Thursday for Corsicana's participation in the nation-wide campaign of the motion picture theatres to start the raising of funds for unemployment relief during the coming winter months. All three theatres in Corsicana announced special midnight matinees beginning at 11 o'clock Saturday night from which the gross proceeds will be donated to a local relief fund.

Meanwhile efforts were under way to complete the local relief organization and word was awaited from state and national uthorities on the method of procedure at noon Thursday. Much ground has been covered in preparing for the relief work since the project was initiated late Thursday, and it is expected to be entirely completed within a few hours.

All of this week, theaters in all parts of the nation have been active in raising funds for this particular relief work, and the theater owners of Texas are planning to do their part with midnight matinees Saturday.

Local sponsors of the project are expecting Corsicana citizens to contribute several hundred dollars to the local fund through their dual opportunity of seeing the current presentation at their favorite theatre and aiding the relief fund at the same time.

"Touchdown," a football romance will be presented at the Palace theatre: "South of Santa Fe," a western romance, at the Ideal, and the Grand will present "River's End," an epic of the north. There will be no advance in prices for the occasion, and all employes of the theatres, including union operators, are donating their services. Every cent taken in at the box offices will go to the relief fund.

PALESTINE BANK LOOT IS RECOVERED; CASHIER HELD IN CONNECTION ROBBERY

PALESTINE, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Rapid developments in investigation, within 24 hours after the First National Bank of Palestine was robbed of $8,368 yesterday, had resulted today in recovery of the money and charges being filed against Porter Cooper, cashier of the bank, and Howard Wingate.

Wingate was arrested late yesterday and in a signed statement to officers, named Cooper as his accomplice. He told of entering the bank and herding five employes into the vault at the point of a pistol. After locking them in, he collected the money in a bag but for some unexplained reason, did not take it out of the bank.

The money, hidden in a compartment under the cashier's desk, was recovered by Detective Norman York.

Members of the bank personnel locked in the vault were President C. L. Hufsmith, Cashier Cooper, O. L. Pounds, assistant cashier; Helen Gilliam, bookkeeper, and Miss Grace Officer, clerk.

Investigators were hopeful of being able to solve a previous robbery of the bank last March 28, when a robber took several thousand dollars under similar circumstances.

Cooper refused to make a statement and would neither admit nor deny the robbery charge.

PALESTINE, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Norman York, detective, today recovered a money bag containing $8,368, hidden in a compartment under the cashier's desk of the First National Bank of Palestine.

FIVE BANDITS WHO PLANNED ROB BANK CHANGED MINDS

RINGLING, Okla., Nov. 19.—(AP) Five uninvited guests who welcomed W. W. Woodworth, president of the First National bank, and Mrs. Woodworth when they returned home last night, announced they would rob the bank with Woodworth's help, later changed their minds and departed with the banker's car and square meal.

The men, all masked, armed, wearing rubber gloves and talking lustheartedly, asked the banker's wife to prepare supper for them and announced they had come to stay all night.

As they sat down to the meal, the men told Woodworth they would accompany him to the bank this morning and rob it.

When they were ready to retire, one of the men suggested two of the group go downtown and get the night watchman. Thereupon, two went to town but returned with word that the night watchman had found them first and had shot at them.

Another conference was held. The men decided not to carry out their original plans. They asked the banker for the keys to his car.

Bidding their hosts adieu, the five stepped into Woodworth's automobile and disappeared.

FESS RESIGNATION DEMANDED BY NEW WET HOUSE GROUP

SUPPORTERS DO NOT BELIEVE CHAIRMAN TO QUIT UNDER FIRE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The unsteady throne of the Republican party chairmanship again is quaking under its unwilling occupant, Seiator Fess of Ohio.

House Republican anti-prohibitionists are leading a new assault on the holder of the thanklessjob. They are demanding Fess' resignation because he recently states he would use his influence "to prevent the party from committing a fatal blunder in asking for repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Even before the wets got into action a movement had started looking to insallation of a new chairman at the forthcoming December meeting of the national committee. However, this movement was not anti-Fess. It was led by some who believed now was the time to reorganize rather than next June.

Now the uprising by the house wets, led by Representative Britten of Illinois, is believed to have settled the issue. Fess' friends do not believe he will quit under fire.

Representative Schafer of Wisconsin and LaGuardia of New York joined Britten in issuing caustic statements.

Formal Occupation Tsitsihar Thursday

TOKYO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Japan's victorious troops, reported to have swept through Anganchi across the Chinese Eastern Railway to capture Tsitsihar, today were pursuing the retreating enemy toward Koku Shan Chen, 150 miles northeast of Tsitsihar, the Rengo correspondent at Harbin reported.

Neither the foreign office nor the war office made any announcement regarding the capture of Tsitsihar although advices from Mukden said General Honjo's headquarters had confrimed reports that the Japanese entered the city this morning.

Apparently on the asumption that the Japanese were inside the Tsitsihar wall, it was authoritatively stated they intended to hold the city until it was assured that the Chinese forces under General Mah Chan-Sran had been scattered so widely as to make any chance for attack impossible.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 19. (AP)—Official dispatches from Tsitsihar received here today said the formal occupation of the city by the Japanese was begun at 10 a. m. today, following the Japanese drive yesterday in which the Chinese army under General Mah Chan-Shan was routed.

Chinese prisoners taken by the Japanese said General Mah Chan-Shan told them only that they were opposed to the forces of Chank Hai-Peng, General Mah's rival, and that they were ignorant of the nationality of their foes until the Japanese took the first line trenches, after which the retreat began.

As a result of the fighting, thousands of Chinese civilians along the Chinese Eastern Railway were leaving their homes today, deserting all their belongings and fleeing for safety in all directions.

The bitter cold continued today. Thermometers at Tsitsihar station registered 20 degrees below zero centigrade. A strong, icy north wind swept down from Northern Manchuria.

To Withdraw in Week.

No further fighting is taking place, it was said, and the Japanese troops were expected to be withdrawn in a week or two.

Their only object in driving northward, a Tokyo war office spokesman said, was to break up the concentration of Chinese troops with threatened the Nonni river bridge head.

Newspaper reports said, however, General Mah's best troops escaped destruction in the battle yesterday and are still at large. They were to the rear, it was said, as soon as the tide of battle became evident.

Messages sent yesterday afternoon by General Mah to Chang Hsueh-Lang, it was reported here, said his army was compelled to retreat because of superior strength of the Japanese forces aided by eight bombing planes and artillery. Mah said he withdrew to the northward from Tsitsihar so as to save the city's terrified population from "the horrors of war."

Late yesterday 400 Japanese cavalry men, armed with hand grenades, arrived at the Tsitsihar gates and soon afterward entered the city.

General Mah also sent a message to Chan Chin-Hui, governor of the Harbin district, reports received here said, indicating that he refused the truce terms of General Honjo, Japanese commander, only because he himself was unable to read them and his officers took advantage of this by misinterpreting the meaning of General Honjo's message. General Mah, the report said, stated he would go personally to Harbin soon to explain his position to the Japanese.

A dispatch to the Rengo news agency at Tokyo from Harbin today said Chang Chin-Hui who is friendly to Japan, declared the independence of Hailungkiang province and set himself up as governor.

The dispatch said he proposed to enter Tsitsihar with his own troops and take over the administration of the city.

Capture Denied.

NANKING, Nov. 19.—(AP)—In spite of Japanese dispatches stating the Japanese occupied Anganchi and Tsitsihar, Manchuria yesterday, official circles here today said they had direct word from Tsitsisahr saying the Chinese are still in possession of both cities and that General Mah Chan-Shan is repelling Japanese attacks at Anganchi.

Russia Concerned.

MOSCOW, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The reported occupation of Tsitsihar in Manchuria by the Japanese is bound to cause concern to the soviet government because it involved crossing of the Chinese Eastern Railway, jointly owned by China and soiet Russia.

Official comment has not been forthcoming yet but Maxim Litvinoff, the foreign affairs commissar, referred to just such an eventuality in a recent declaration to the Japanese ambassador whom he reminded that any attack on Tsitsihar which involved cutting the railway might cause material damage to Russia's interests.

He reminded the ambassador that Japan had given assurance that Russian interests would be protected in the Manchurian conflict, and added that the soviet government expected such assurance to be kept.

Students Raising Funds

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 19.—(AP) Thousands of Chinese students abandoned their classes today and began organized solicitation for funds to assist Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, commander of the Chinese forces in Manchuria.

They scattered throughout the city and into the foreign concessions, carrying banners with anti-Japanese slogans and soliciting all passersby. In some cases they were belligerent toward those who declined to contribute but foreign police who patrolled the streets refrained from interfering.

Reports from various other places in the Yangtze valley said wide-spread efforts were under way to obtain funds to finance the purchase of supplies and ammunition for the Manchurian army.

Set Up New Defense

PEIPING, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Chinese headquarters here said today they were still in touch with Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, commanding the army in Manchuria, and that he had set up a new defense line near Tsitsihar and intended defending that line as long as he could hold out.

An official dispatch from Tsitsihar to Chang Hsueh-Liang's headquarters said the Japanese cavalry had worked around to the east of Tsitsihar last night.

General Mah Retreating

HARBIN, Manchuria, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A message to the offices of the Chinese Eastern railway here reported that the Japanese had entered Tsitsihar early this morning and that Gen. Mah Chan-Shan's Chinese forces totaling about 20,000, had started a general retreat.

They had abandoned Sanchenfang, south of Anganchi, the message said, and the Japanese appeared to have followed them closely across the Chinese Eastern railway line.

Reports indicated that Anganchi was quiet with 250 Chinese railway guards maintaining order.

A telephone message form Tsitsihar to General Mah's representative here said the last contingent of Mah's troops had left Tsitsihar at 5 a. m. today and that the main body was retreating in good order along the Koshan railway which runs east from the walled city.

Little Damage From Two Fire Alarms

An automobile fire on South Beaton street about mid-morning Thursday, and a blazing barbecue stove in the market of Hollingsworth's Market at 210 North Commerce street resulted in two runs for the Corsicana fire department during the day. Little damage resulted in either case.

Bright Business Spots Added New Hope Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

The return of gold lost by the United States since September in the greatest export movement in history, is well under way, says the federal reserve board. It attributes the "raid on the dollar" partly to misunderstanding abroad of the purposes of the national credit corporation.

Anthracite and bituminous coal mining and retail trade groups showed employment gains in October, the labor department reports.

Postal savings deposits swelled $67,000,000 to $527,000,000 in October.

A contract has been let for construction of a $8,330,000 building to house the supreme court in Washington.

Definite business improvement in Missouri and Kansas and confidence in the future was found by J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis, San Francisco Railway company.

Eighteen banks, with total deposits of $4,870,000 re-opened in October, says the federal reserve board, bringing the total that have resumed since Jan. 1 to 220. Their deposits total $120,000,000.

Offerings of a $12,000,000 bond issue by the Cincinnati Union Terminal company, first important piece of railroad financing in two months, cheers Wall street. Some bankers regard the offering as indicating that a period of unsettlement after the British gold payment suspension has been largely overcome.

League Council

volving the engagement of the United States to guarantee China's administrative integrity.

The Japanese and Chinese spokesmen again were left out of today's session.

Dr. Alfred Sze was reported also to be ready to press the council to action by invoking article 15 of the league covenant which provides that he council may make decisions without the vote of the interested parties. China's present appeal is under article 11 of the covenant.

League officials watched anxiously for some move from Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, American representative, who remained in his hotel room, for it was recognized that the council's decisions will be determined largely by the attitude of the United States.

Dazed by reports of the offensive against Gen. Mah Chan-Shan's army, leaders realized today they were facing the imperilment of the league's survival as an instrument of peace.

Japan last night had abandoned all talk of compromise in the Manchurian conflict. Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese delegate, at a secret session of the council, laid down a program of peace conditions described in some league circles as equivalent to turning Manchuria into a political economic protectorate of his country.

No evacuation of the territory could began, he said, until China consented to direct negotiations on all five of the points laid down by Japan.

Chinese Complaints Filed With League

NANKING, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Nanknig government, announced today he was proceeding immediately to Manchuria.

The Nanking government has cabled to the League of Nations council at Paris a series of complaints supporting charges of treaty violations by the Japanese. The following "provocative actions" were listed:

1. Illegal stationing of Japanese troops in Manchuria. The Chinese estimate that there are now 23,000 Japanese soldiers and officers there.
2. Illegal stationing of police attached to Japanese consulates in Chinese territory.
3. Assaults on Chinese nationals by Japanese police.
4. Arrest of Chinese officials by Japanese police.
5. Destruction by the Japanese of Chinese government offices.
6. Holding of Japanese military maneuvers in Chinese cities.
7. Interference with the transport of Chinese military forces.
8. Establishing of post offices along the South Manchuria railway.
9. Levying illegal taxes along the South Manchurian railway.
10. Appropriation of Chinese land.
11. Disrupting Chinese communications.
12. Interference with local municipal administration.

Ouster Suits

finding out who has the stock of the Magnolia Petroleum company and the Shell Union Oil corporation.

Sheriff Hood received writs of district court at Austin, in connection with ouster suits Attorney General James V. Allred has filed against 15 oil companies, seeking to attach stock up to the value of $1,021,500. Each of the Magnolia Petroleum company and the Shell Union Oil corporation.

Persistent efforts today had produced certain information and figures for the sheriff but no success in making the writs of attachment effective. He learned that the Standard Oil company of New York holds all of 1,850,000 shares of stock of the Magnolia Petroleum company excepting 13 shares. Each director of the Magnolia company holds one each of those shares.

W. H. Francis, chief counsel for the Magnolia Petroleum company, explained that although it is a Texas corporation, it is a Standard of New York subsidiary and the stock certificates naturally are held by the owners, not by the company offices here.

The sheriff said he was not successful in obtaining information concerning the Shell Union Oil corporation, a subsidiary of the Shell Petroleum company.

Sheriff Hood planned to make return on the writs to the Travis county district clerk at Austin tonight, forwarding to the attorney general's department the information he received about the Magnolia Petroleum company.

Although the writs of attachment directed the sheriff to levy on any property of the two concerns in Dallas, an accompanying letter from an assistant attorney general suggested the levy be made only on shares of stock.

Writ Reaches Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Attachment on 40,860 shares of stock valued at $1,021,500 allegedly owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey in the Humble Oil and Refining company was received today by the sheriff's office.

The writ came from Austin in connection with Attorney General James V. Allred's suit to oust 15 major oil companies for hlleged violation of the state's anti-trust law. The attorney general asks eviction and penalties aggregating $17,850,000.

The document received here was one of several similar writs which left the Travis county court addressed to the sheriffs of Dallas and El Paso counties as well as to the sheriff of Harris county.

Grandi

States see eye to eye on the world topics they have reviewed.

The authority came directly from Premier Mussolini in Rome. Over the trans-Atlantic telephone he relayed his conviction the Hoover-Stimson-Grandi talks would "go a long ways towards increasing the harmony of Italian American relations."

The premier based his expression on several reports his foreign minister had given him by cable and telephone.

Signor Grandi postponeda a conference with Secretary Stimson this morning in order to talk with his chief from his suite in the Mayflower Hotel.

Mussolini had no instructions for the minister. They arranged to talk again tonight before Grandi leaves for New York.

Conclusions of Rome

ROME, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Italian government was said officially today to draw four favorable conclusions from the conversations between Foreign Minister Grandi and President Hoover in Washington. These are:

1. The great cordiality with which American officials and the press welcomed the representative of Premier Mussolini.
2. Italy is now playing a leading role in solving world problems.
3. Rome and Washington are in full agreement and Mussolini's policies are finding full collaboration from America.
4. The Italo-American harmony of viewpoint makes at noteworthy contribution to world collaboration and sounds of note of optimism for the economic future.

WARNING FAILS TO AFFECT CANDIDATES DISTRICT FOURTEEN

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The warning of party leaders that Democrats of the 14th congressional district should unite to support one of the six Democratic candidates for the seat of the late Harry M. Wurzbach, if they hoped to defeat the lone Republican claimant, today apparently had met with no results.

Joseph Byrnes, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, called on Carl Wright Johnson of San Antonio and Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi, regarded as the two strongest Democratic candidates, to decide which of them was stronger and for one to withdraw.

Johnson's campaign headquarters issued a statement today declaring "the schism in the Democratic ranks was brought about by Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, who brought out Kleberg for congress several days after Carl Wright Johnson had announced. Upon Mr. Miller and Mr. Kleberg lies any responsibility for any split in the ranks which might jeopardize the chances of a Democrat being elected."

Johnson himself announced he would "be in Washington in time to vote for John Garner as speaker of the house."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A prohibition candidate described as sponsoring prohibition modification in the fourteenth congressional district of Texas today was promised the support of the Crusaders, repeal advocates.

Rufus Lusk, executive vice commander of the Washington Crusaders, announced he received word that Carl Wright Johnson, in the race for the seat of the late Representative Wurzbach, "came out for modification yesterday at our plea."

"We will fight to put him over," Lusk said, "just as we did put over Represenative-elect Hart in Michigan."

HEARING ON STOCK SALE MATTER GOES OVER TO NOV. 30

HOUSTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Hearing on an application for an injunction, sought by the National Bank of Commerce as trustee, to restrain J. M. West and others from disposing of certain stock of the Houston Printing Company, was postponed today on request of attorneys for both sides until November 30.

Now a League of Nations committee has proposed to churches of all nations that the Sunday after the second Saturday in April be acepted as a fixed date A note has been drafted which it is hoped all governments will submit to church representatives.

Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, who attended the League committee meeting in Switzerland as a technical advisor, said today the note will be referred to the state department for possible changes before it is made public.

The committee hopes the churches will have expressed their attitudes by 1933. If its suggested date is approved, it can be made effective soon afterward.

Novel Means Used Teach Psychology Northwestern Class

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Prof. John B. Morgan's psychology class got off to a running start yesterday.

Memory courses were the subject of the professor's talk.

"Memory courses," he said, "are fakes."

William Chamberlain, a student, took exception. "Did you ever hear of the Roth course?" he asked. "My Uncle's an official in it."

"It never did me any good," said Edward Whelan, another member of the class.

"Well, replied Chamberlain, "a course is no good unless you start with something."

"Do you mean I'm dumb?" asked Whelan. "I'll see you outside."

"No you won't" yelled Chamberlain, as he pulled out a pistol and started firing when the whole class followed.

'And now, children,' said the Professor when the whole class noticed that the belligerants were grinning, "this was just my yearly stunt to give the class a test on observation."

POISON
in Your bowels!

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels, cause that dull, headachy, sluggish, bilious condition; coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly in a hurry. The difference it will make in your feelings over night will prove its merit to you.

Dr. Caldwell studied constipation for over forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need to make their bowels help themselves. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to everyone. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin" as it is called, is the most popular laxative drugstores sell.

COTTON TRUCKS ARE RULED FROM CERTAIN BUSINESS STREETS

An ordinance prohibiting cotton trucks from traveling on Beaton, Main and Commerce streets between Third and Seventh avenues was passed by the Corsicana city commission Tuesday afternoon and will become effective immediately.

Mayor J. W. Edens presided at the session with Commissioners E. M. Palmer and Joe Jefferson in attendance. Other city officials present included City Secretary J. P. Welch, Sanitary Engineer G. M. Crook, Assistant Engineer W. V. Mowlam, City Attorney Charles Banister, Corporation Recorder H. S. Melear, Assistant Water Superintendent John Wilson, City Tax Assessor and Collector J. M. Pugh, and Chief of Police Will S. Knight.

After the roll call, minutes of the last session were read and approved. The report of the city secretary was presented and ordered received and filed.

Commissioner Palmer reported all affairs satisfactory in his departments. Sanitary Superintendent Wilson reported some of the trash receptacles on Beaton street were in need in repairs, and he was instructed to have a new bottom placed in one of them, and allow the others to be used as long as possible.

Affairs in the water and lights department were reported satisfactory. Mayor Edens stated that a cash deposit was protecting the city on sales of water to outside purchasers. It was reported that a cotton truck did some damage in the city park Monday night. It was also agreed by the commission that the cotton trucks should be routed off North Fifteenth street north of Second avenue.

An ordinance prohibiting the operation of cotton trucks, defining such vehicles, providing for warning signs and for a penalty for the violation of the ordinance was put on for its second and final reading and passed unanimously on roll call. A cotton truck was defined as on hauling two or more bales, but the commission stated that it was not intended to apply to farmers hauling their own cotton to warehouses or under similar circumstances. By the ordinance the trucks will be prohibited from traveling on Beaton, Main or Commerce streets between Third and Seventh avenues. Penalties for violations will be not less than $10 nor more than $200.

Restless, could not sleep
"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night.
My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. R. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

CORSICANA, TEX., NOV. 20, 1931

RAILS AND THEIR COMPETITORS.

According to Interstate Commerce Commission report the railroads carry 75.8 per cent of the country's freight; inland waterways and Great Lakes, 16.3 per cent; pipe lines, 4.9 per cent; interurban trucks, 2.5 per cent, and other instrumentalities, one-half of one per cent. The motor trucks carry fifty per cent more than all the country's inland waterways, Great Lakes excluded.

It is not to be concluded from these figures that the rails have no real cause for alarm over the competition of other services. Motor truck transport is still an infant, but it has been growing at a rate which does not permit its one-fortieth present share of all movement to be taken as a criterion. Furthermore, this is but one of the services of which the rails complain with some show of reason that they are being subjected to unfair competition. The aggregate of water, truck and pipeline business is 23.7 per cent of the whole. All of this movement of commodities is conducted in freedom from such governmental regulation as is imposed upon the railroads.

The rails, for instance, are forbidden except in certain limited cases to move goods in the production of which they are financially interested. But pipe lines may transport oil and gasoline and natural gas owned by the same interests which operate the means of transportation. The government prescribes the rates to be charged by the rails, but it does not attempt to fix interstate truck rates. The real plea is for equality of treatment in federal dealing with all competitors. The showing of distribution of traffic lends emphasis to the reasons for this demand.

The I. C. C. fails to interpret the volume distribution in terms of revenue worth. Such a showing is essential to a correct understanding of the position of the railroads with regard to their comparatively unfettered competitors.

PURCHASING POWER

It is not easy to account for the spectacular rise in American wheat prices. It is equally difficult to say why silver has suddenly gone up 15 per cent in Shanghai. Nor, for that matter, is it easily explained exactly why the values of American securities have appreciated more than $2,000,000,000 since the low point of the present year.

But the effect of these phenomena can be simply stated. The purchasing power of those who own wheat or silver or some other commodities that have shown similar gains is become much greater than it was a while ago. The fact was celebrated in the West at the beginning of the month with a Hallowe'en festival of unparalleled proportions. And if silver holds its gains, great industries will have as good an excuse for celebration. For it is estimated that a 15 per cent rise in silver values means an increased purchasing power in the Orient sufficient to stabilize the basic industries of England and to absorb the troublesome surplus of raw materials and manufactured products throughout the world.

This is probably too much to expect. But it is interesting to recall the estimate of an economic authority that the difference between bad times and good is rarely more than 15 per cent. And it is a matter of individual experience that it is extra money which gives the sense of security and prosperity. That is what the west felt when wheat reached a profitable price. And if the money of India, China and other countries using silver currency has gone up in value and will stay up, the stimulus to business should be marked and immediate.

JUST FOLKS

UNCHANGED.

In the early days of struggle when home was small and new
We cherished little visions of the things we'd some day do.
We found our joy in friendship and we found our strength in care,
And we found our tears in sorrows every family has to bear.
But, my darling, looking backward,
do you ever think it strange,
Although fame and fortune alter,
joy and sorrow never change?

Here we are still looking forward
after five and twenty years,
To the same glad little visions, to the self-same smiles and tears,
Finding pleasure where we found
it in the days of long ago,
Fretting still o'er disappointment, needing friends to share our woe,
Hoping still to see our children
safe from hurt and cruel shame,
With the home a little richer, but its problems still the same.

Once we thought we'd cease to worry and perhaps in future years
We should find some source of pleasure free from sorrow's sighs and tears,
But the month has never happened that we have not had to share
A common family burden or a neighbor's weight of care.
Time may alter fame and fortune and hang treasures on the wall,
But life's duties, joys and sorrows never seem to change at all.

A GREAT YEAR FOR TOURISTS

There were some curious shifts in vacation practices of the American people the past year. Compared with other lines of business, that of those depending upon tourists was relatively prosperous. But fewer Americans visited foreign countries. There was distrust of conditions in Central Europe and there was inclination among those who ordinarily go abroad, to economize, but even with this tendency to retrenchment, the tourist within the United States spent the tidy sum of $2,750,000,000. The estimate was made by the American Automobile Association's statistical department.

Whatever brought about the change of direction of vacationing, it had beneficial results in making the tourists familiar with one of the finest educational features of their own country. The number of visitors to the national parks for the first time passed the 3,000,000 mark, breaking previous records by 14 per cent. Those three million folk gained a new respect for the grandeur of their native land, and if they availed themselves of the educational facilities which are offered by official guides and rangers as a part of the government's program of making the parks useful, they got their money's worth in addition to their cultural equipment.

TRICKS OF THE TRADE.

Nearly everybody knows that Mr. Coolidge, a few weeks ago, wrote a magazine article in which he disclaimed any intention of running for the presidency. What they don't know, however, and what they would like to know (not out of vulgar curiosity, mind you, but—er, well, scientific interest) is the amount of money he received for the article. Well, here's the rumor that reaches us: He received $10,000 in coin of the realm.

That will keep the grim spectre of want from the doorstep quite a while, and you may regard the article as a spectacular success. On the whole, though, we are disappointed. Mr. Coolidge is not the accomplished professional writer that his amateur utterance regarding the presidency ("I do not choose to run") had led us to expect.

Everybody knows he wrote the article and, what is worse, knows what he meant by it. He made his meaning so clear the first time that no magazine need ever ask him to say it again. So, where's his next $10,000 coming from? Remembering his performance of four years ago, we thought he would have managed it better.

That's the way it goes. A lot of brilliant amateurs don't show so well when they enter the professional field.

The Proper Use For Hoardings!

WHAT THE TRAFFIC WILL BEAR

Insistence of the post office department on an increase of the first-class postal rate as a means of partially meeting the postal deficit is based on the assumption that the volume of business offering under the advanced scale would be sufficient to yield a substantial additional revenue. This assumption is sharply challenged by the National Council of Business Mail Users in a letter to Postmaster General Brown.

The Council points to the effects of the half-cent increase of a billion pieces of mail. In that year also the rate on private mailing cards was raised from one cent to two, with the expectation that the ten millions of recepits from that source would be doubled. On the contrary, it was cut to four millions.

The postoffice department has optimistically figured that a half-cent increase in letter postage would add $65,000,000 to receipts, and a one-cent increase $135,000,000. But these calculations are based on present mail volume. The critics of the plan argue, perhaps too pessimistically, that volume would be cut 25 per cent and present revenues from first-class mail would decline, under even a half-ent increase by $17,000,000. Pointing to the present falling off of postal business under existing rates, the business men ask:

"Have you ever heard of a merchant who could not sell hats which he had priced at $2 raising the price to $3 in order to induce the public to buy them?"

That question is pertinent. A large proportion of first-class mail business is necessary to the transaction of business and to other imperative communication and would pay an advanced rate. But there is also a large volume of "courtesy" mail which would vanish from the posts if over-taxed.

The postoffice department cannot afford to make the mistake of ignoring the question of what the traffic will bear.

A sensational new element, No. 87, has just been discovered by scientists at the University of Illinois, and no doubt given a sweater with its number on the back.

Comprehensive outline of what constitutes a Wisconsin Republican, from one just elected to congress: "I'm a Republican, other things being equal.

CHRISTSMAS SEALS

For the twenty-fourth consecutive year Christmas seals will soon be offered for sale to the public as a means of raising the needed funds for the prosecution of the nation-wide campaign against tuberculosis. That the money thus given is not thrown away is convincingly shown by the fact that since the inauguration of the movement under the National Tuberculosis Association the death rate from this disease has decreased more than fifty per cent.

The seals help to support hundreds of sanitoriums and preventoriums and have provided nurses for the care of patients in their own homes. It is expected that one billion and a half of the seals will be sold this year, and the campaign to market them has enlisted the cooperation of more than 1400 local associations, which will send out more than 5,000,000 letters to prospective purchasers. The seals only cost a cent each but they are gradually winning the battle against what was once the most dreaded and deadly of diseases.

Gandhi, says a character analyst, is lacking in a sense of humor. Taking this consideration with another, laughing up his sleeve would seem quite out of the question.

We don't know just what campaign China has mapped out, if any, but think that sending a flier out over a Japanese fort with a $2 kodak might worry them silly.

Incidentally, by handing the Tokio-Seattle fliers their prize money, that Japanese newspaperman sets an all-time record; a reporter working $25,000 into an expense account.

"Aimee," a biographer remarks, "has played every role known to womanhood—wife, mother, widow, divorcee and bride." And red head and blond.

THE COHORT OF QUACKS.

At a meeting of medical and surgical experts in New York, Dr. Allen B. Kanavel called attention once more to the number and variety of pretenders who infest the ministry of medicine. He admitted that warnings of this sort are usually attributed to profesisonal jealousy or intolerance toward unconventional methods of cure. But the attitude of the physician is well represented by Dr. Kanavel's insistence that only education can correct the credulity of the public and that absolute prohibition of questionable methods may do as much harm as good.

The dangers of quack medicine and the amazing appetite of the public for fake cures and remedies are confirmed by a recent statement by the postoffice department. It is said that the mails are still widely used for fraudulent and useless cures and nostrums, though the authorities are constantly discovering them and rejecting them from the mails. According to the inspectors, most of these medicines and curative devices are simply "ridiculous." but the public continues to send for them and pay for them on a scale which does no credit to the general average intelligence.

MEXIA, Nov. 17.—(Spl)—A record cotton crop is expected to be recorded for 1931 when the gathering of the cotton is completed. On November 1 the gins of the county had turned out 60,920 bales compared with 41,073 last year, and the harvest is not over.

Farmers who have sold have gotten an average of about 6 cents for their cotton. Thousands of bales are being held for a better price. The cotton is the best staple and grade ever produced in the county.

TOO MUCH LAND IN CULTIVATION SAYS FARM BOARD HEAD

JAMES C. STONE SUGGESTS SHIFTING OF TILLABLE SOILS TO PASTURES

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Chairman James C. Stone of the federal farm board expressed belief today there was too much land in agricultural use.

A participant in the land utilization conference called by Secretary of Ariculturel Arthur M. Hyde, the farm board head said land-planning "must include provisions for reducing the total area of land in farms, or else for shifting some of it to less productive use, as from crops to pastures."

Utilization of waste lands and conservation of soil was the keynote of the conference, with representatives from land grant colleges and universities, farm mortgage and insurance companies, conservation and forestry leaders and agriculturists attending.

The trend of the conferees' discussions was to solve the land ills of the future.

Chairman Stone said it would be an "almost impossible task" to develop a utilization program even in the next 10 years.

Such a program, Stone said, has become one of the major precept of farm board activities.

PANTAGES DEFENSE SEEKING INTRODUCE FRAMEUP TESTIMONY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The question of whether defense counsel may introduce witnesses to testify concerning an alleged conspiracy to "frame" Alexander Pantages, on a charge of attacking Eunice Pringle, young dancer, temporarily has halted taking of testimony in the theater magnate's second trial.

Superior Judge Clair Tappaan took the matter under advisement. Defense attorneys said they had several witnesses by whose testimony they hoped to prove that Nicholas Duneav, Miss Pringle's dramatic director and friend, had part in a conspiracy against the theater man.

Whether the testimony will be admitted involves a legal question that has not been decided by he California courts. The district attorney's representatives contended that the defense had created nothing more than a weak suspicion that a conspiracy existed before the alleged crime.

Smith, night watchman, a state witness, who said he watched the two in the room through a peep-hole cut in the floor of the room above.

GARFIELD MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD ON 100TH ANNIVERSARY

JAMES A. GARFIELD, VICTIM ASSASSIN"S BULLET, NATIVE OF OHIO

HIRAM, Ohio, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Ohio broadcast to the nation today a memorial to one of the state's most distinguished sons.

It was the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of James Abram Garfield, twentieth president of the United States.

Speakers here and in Cleveland recalled the tragic days in 1881 through which the nation waited for word from the bedside of the president in Elberon, N. J., where he lay mortally wounded from an assassin's bullet.

Happier days of the president's life also were brought to mind—when as a boy he waded in the streams around his birthplace in Orange township, Cuyahoga county, and of hard work to help his widowed mother.

The days in Hiram were some of the most important in his life. He came here at 20 at attend the Western Reserve Eclectic Institute, as Hiram college was then known, and six years later he was president of the institution.

High spots in the memorial services, attended by the president's kin, were the address at Hiram college by Henry Augustus Garfield, president of Williams college, in eulogy to his distinguished father; services at the Garfield Memorial church near the birthplace, and the placing of a boulder on the four-acre plot marking the birthplace.

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 19.—(Spl.)—Sheriff Jim Sessions of Freestone county is looking for one more whiskey still. Since taking office in January he has raided and confiscated 199 whiskey making plants of various sizes, and wants one more to even up the number before Thanksgiving.

The sheriff has been averaging six raids a week and his campaign has been so thorough federal prohibition agents stationed in Freestone county have been withdrawn.

MOTHER IS HELD IN DEATH MEMBERS ILLINOIS FAMILY

POISON FOUND IS VISCERA OF DAUGHTER LEADS TO ARREST

PEKIN, Ill., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A 50-year-old widow sat in a cell today, the confessed murderer of her husband and her 12-year-old daughter, Mildred, by poison. A son recovered from a similar portion.

Mrs. Alice Mason administered the deadly drug to her husband, John, a year ago and to her children recently that she might realize the $1000 insurance policy on the life of each, the prosecutor said.

"She was the beneficiary," said State's Attorney Louis P. Dunkelberg. "She collected on each policy."

Dr. B. M. Barringer who signed the certificate giving peritonitis as the cause of the daughter's death in August, was held in technical custody at the jail. He has denied the woman's charge that he furnished the poison.

The widow was arrested early yesterday after Dr. Williard D. McNally, Chicago toxicologist, reported to Coroner A. E. Allen he had found sufficient poison in the girl's viscera to kill several persons. She died August 9, ostensibly from peritonitis.

Not many days later Harold, Mrs. Mason's 18 year old son, became ill. He is now recovering. Mrs. Mason carried $1,000 insurance on Mildred, her husband and Harold, officials said.

Mrs. Mason maintained she was innocent.

Hiccoughs Continue But Victim Able to Take Nourishment

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Hiccough continued to wrack Ira A. King, Mansfield garage owner, today, but physicians for the first time held out hope for his recovery.

He was reported "holding his own" and physicians believed the hiccoughing siege now in its 12th day would pass away as he regains his strength.

He is now able to take some nourishment and the hiccoughs are less severe.

EAGLE-JACKET GO FRIDAY PROMISES BE REAL CLASSIC

CORSICANA TIGERS ENGAGED IN SCRIMMAGE ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

All district 9 football teams are taking easy training this week with the exception of Hillsboro and Cleburne who meet in Cleburne Friday afternoon in a conference game that will be watched with more than passing interest. In addition to the long-time rivalry between these two clubs and their annual interesting tilt, Friday's game has been made more interesting by the fact the Cleburne officials lodged a protest against four of the Hillsboro star performers at a meeting of the district executive committee in Hillsboro Wednesday night. The executive committee refused to allow the protest and Corsicana, Temple, Waxahachie and Waco voted unanimously to disallow the protest.

Cleburne is undefeated in the conference standing with victories over Temple, Waxahachie and Waco while Hillsboro has lost games to Corsicana and Temple. Hillsboro carries a hard-driving and bruising attack and many of the critics of the district are of the opinion the Hill county club will jolt the Jackets Friday. Members of the Hillsboro club and fans in Hillsboro are ired over the protesting of Burt, quarter; Herring, fullback and captain; Colville, ace wingman; and Moak, halfback; and declared Wednesday night they would give the Jackets plenty of misery in their game Friday afternoon.

Hillsboro and Cleburne coaches report their teams in excellent physical condition for the encounter.

Attacks Junior Games.

The protest was lodged on the strength of newspaper stories that these players participated in junior high school competition in 1927 with Colville also playing in 1926. Hillsboro officials presented the school records on the case and also admitted the boys played in junior high, but stated the junior high participation was not regularly organized affairs, etc. and the Hillsboro contention was upheld by the committee.

E. T. Geinheimer, principal of the Waco high school, chairman of the committee, presided and conducted the hearing. Mr. Geinheimer leaned toward the position taken by Cleburne, but after Corsicana, Temple and Waxahachie had voted for the Hillsboro side, Waco also voted with Hillsboro.

Corsicana Tigers were given a holiday from practice Wednesday. Scrimmage was scheduled to be held Thursday afternoon. Another scrimmage is to be given the Tigers Monday afternoon and then signal and pass defense work will be carried out Tuesday and Wednesday as the Bengals prepare to make their bid for the district championship against Cleburne in Cleburne Thanksgiving Day. The Cleburne-Corsicana tilt will be uncreled at 2:30 o'clock.

McGee Injured List.

Cotton McGee, hard-hitting guard of the Tigers, is on the injured list with a split muscle. He has not been practicing this week, but is expected to be in shape by the time of the Cleburne melee. W. J. Bowlin who was injured in the Temple fracas, is completely recovered and his foot was not hurt as badly as was at first thought. Other members of the club are in good shape. The Tigers will be able to throw their entire strength against the Jackets in the game that is to determine whether the Bengals repeat as district champions.

There is a possibility the special train over the Southern Pacific Lines to Cleburne a week from today will not leave here at 8:30 o'clock as originally planned, and the train may be sent out of here later in the morning after the train from Tyler arrives. In the event the change is made, it is expected there will be scores of Tyler fans here to make the trip to Cleburne.

Seceral hundred tickets will likely be received here within the next day or two to be sold in Corsicana. Definite announcement is expected Friday.

Officials Conferred.

Coach Pierce and Coach Parker of Cleburne conferred on officials, etc. incident to the game Wednesday night in Hillsboro and details will be discussed Friday in Cleburne.

Waco and Temple officials report their charges in good condition. These two clubs will meet in their annual tussle in Temple Thanksgiving Day. Hillsboro and Waxahachie will play Thanksgiving Day. They are scheduled to play in Waxahachie, but there is a strong possibility the game will be transferred to Frazier field, Hillsboro.

Corsicana and Cleburne are the only two undefeated clubs in the district at the present time.

All members of the Tiger eleven are passing in their work, O. P. Douglas, principal, announced Wednesday afternoon. Some of the boys had not been studying as they should, but it is believed this has been corrected.

Corsicana fans will trek to Ennis for the Ennis-State Home district titular combat Friday and a number will also be at Athens where the Hornets entertain the Tyler Lions. Some will go to Cleburne to see the Cleburne-Hillsboro clubs engage in the only district 9 melee of the week. Majority, however, will remain in Corsicana to watch the Junior high play the Lanirui vocational juniors of Fort Worth.

Plenty of hotly contested basketball games will be played during this winter on the Y. M. C. A. court when the newly-organized industrial cage loop gets under way.

Hillsboro fans and players are hostile at the futile attempt made by Cleburne officials to have four of the Eagle star performers declared ineligible on the eve of the Hillsboro-Cleburne contest Friday in Cleburne. Members of the Hillsboro team told the writer in Hillsboro Wednesday night they planned to hand the Jackets a lacing on Rhome Field Friday in no uncertain terms. Hillsboro did not like the filing of this protest a little bit, either.

Mexia will play the Teague club Friday and we expect the Black Cats to come through with a decisive victory.

Junior High School Eleven to Meet Fort Worth Here Friday

With the final game here of the season scheduled to be unreeled at Tiger Field Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, junior high school mentors and officials Thursday made final plans for the tough game expected when the Lanirui Vocational School of Fort Worth city junior champions of Cowtown, oppose the Juniors here.

Corsicana lost the opening tilt of the season to the Central Juniors of Temple, who later won the Central Texas Junior high school championship. After their first set back, the Juniors mowed down opposition with a precisive attack.

The Corsicana Tigers, Class A contenders, are idle this week end and the officials of the Junior high school expect a good crowd to be on hand and cheer the club that will furnish the stars for the Tiger elevens next year and in the future. The Juniors are a veeran bunch of players, and carry a real wallop. The fact the State Home and I. O. O. F. Home elevens also are absent from Corsicana during the week end should bolster the attendance at this game.

This will be the only chance the Junior eleven will have an opportunity of making any money this season.

Chatfield Youth Has Developed Into Star Weatherford Halfback

WEATHERFORD, Nov. 19.—(Spl.)—One of the outstanding men on the Weatherford Junior College football team, undefeated contender for the junior college football championship, is a native of Chatfield, Navarro county.

Morris Sands, half back, has been one of the main cogs in the machine. He has never played regular football until this season. He is generally good for a substantial gain when he is given the pigskin.

Due to his inexperience, he was kept on the second team until the Jefferson Law School game in which he won laurels by dashing 76 yards for a touchdown. He has been on the first club since.

In the recent Weatherford-Decatur melee, Sands received a punt on the Weatherford 15 yard line, and he proceeded to unreel an 85 yard jaunt.

Kerens P. T. A. to Entertain Football Squad at Banquet

KERENS, Nov. 19.—(Spl.)—The Kerens Parent Teacher association is planning to entertain the football squad of the Kerens high school and the faculty of the school with a banquet Friday night, November 20th.

G. H. Wilemon, coach for the squad, is working up the program for the evening and Mrs. C. P. Ray, chairman of the hospitality committee, is arranging for the serving. It is estimated that there will be seventy-five present for the occasion.

CORSICANA JUNIOR HIGH GAME FRIDAY TO BE THRILLER

Members of the Corsicana Junior High eleven are expecting a busy session when they face the football team from the Laneri high school of Fort Worth, Catholic vocational institution, on Tiger Field, at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

The visiting delegation will be accompanied by a number of fans and a pep squad according to information received by Principal O. F. Allen Thursday morning. The Corsicana principal states that he was counting heavily upon the support of the Corsicana fans to cheer the Junior high club along.

Meanwhile, Coach John Bergin was engaged in smoothing his offensive play and preparing a defense for the Notre Dame system used by the Fort Worth delegation. So far this season, the Juniors have lost only one game, their first of the season, and have been denied a return engagement with the victors, Central Junior high of Temple.

Members of the Corsicana Tiger band will form the nucleus of the cheering section for the Juniors in Friday's competition.

RAIL PRESIDENTS MEET LABOR HEADS TO DISCUSS WAGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Railroad presidents representing all sections of the country were met in joint conference here today with labor union leaders to discuss informally matters pertaining to wages, working conditions and unemployment.

The meeting was held behind closed doors and efforts were made to keep the conversations as private as possible. It was pointed out that no official action could be taken on any of the subjects discussed.

Most important ot the presidents was the matter of an all-round cut of some 10 per cent in wages. It has been reported the labor men themselves would broach the question of some form of voluntary reduction but the union leaders, it was said, had decided at a preliminary meeting yesterday that any proposal concerning wages must come from the rail officials themselves.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, is chairman of the executives' committee of nine which is meeting with the Brotherhood chiefs headed by D. B. Robertson of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The union men have contended they are not in favor of any wage reduction but, instead, wish to reach some agreement with the employers for the inauguration of shorter working hours in order to take care of unemployment. In some quarters, however, it was said the labor officials were in the mood to agree to some "temporary cut if the money thus saved to the roads is used in providing additional employment.

OVERSTREET GANG MEMBERS DEAD OR IN PRISON HE SAYS

NOTED BANK ROBBER IS TO PLEAD GUILTY ROBBERY OF MICHIGAN BANK

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—(AP)—James Overstreet, whose nine-year career as a bank robber appears destined to end in the Macomb county circuit court, told detectives today that most of the 19 members of the gang which he organized in St. Louis in 1922 are either dead or in prison.

Overstreet and his friend, James McCoy, will be taken today to Mt. Clemens to plead guilty to a charge of robbing the First National bank there of $14,000 last Sept. 16.

Sitting in police headquarters awaiting his transfer to Mt. Clemens, Overstreet told officers how he organized the gang in the Missouri city and embarked on a career of robbery which netted them $150,000. He indicated he preferred to plead guilty to bank robbery in Michigan to facing extradition to other states which want him on similar charges.

Overstreet told how he and his gang robbed 10 Illinois banks in 1924 and how an attempt to rob a mail train at Salem, Ill., with six other men met with failure and the capture of some of the gang.

"It was a tip-off," he explained.

Overstreet's bank robbing career was interrupted in 1924 when he was sentenced to 25 years in the Oklahoma state prison for his part in the robbery of a bank at Shawnee, Okla., in which $20,000 was taken. After serving five years in the Oklahoma prison, Overstreet escaped, resumed his activities and finally joined forces with McCoy, who was paroled from the same prison last May.

Will Let Contract For New Pipeline

BEAUMONT, Nov. 19.—(AP)—F. M. Young, president of the Yount-Lee Oil Company, announced today a contract for construction work on a 10 inch pipeline from the High Island field to the company's water terminal would be let Saturday.

He said the line would be 45 miles long and cost approximately $500,000. He said a shipment of 2,500 tons of pipe would arrive Saturday by steamer. A second shipment of 2,000 tons has been ordered.

CURTIS OPTIMISTIC OVER CONDITIONS IN WESTERN AREA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—An optimistic report on conditions in the west was made today by Vice President Curtis on his return from California.

"The people are cheerful," he said, "although of course they are feeling the effects of the times. It is evident that conditions are improving and there is a note of optimism in the west."

Curtis left political leaders just as puzzled as before on his intensions for 1932 but he did say he would give out a statement shortly. His enthusiasm over his reception across the country led some friends to believe he would not be opposed to running again for vice president.

Curtis is still weighing whether to run next year for his old seat in the senate or to stand for renomination.

OHIO MAN MURDERS COUPLE AND TAKES OWN LIFE LATER

WOMAN WHO SPURNS HIS ATTENTIONS AND HER HUSBAND SHOT DOWN

DENNISON, O., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Thomas Wheeler, 34, shot and killed himself early today not long after slaying Mrs. Blanche Scheideger, 34, who had spurned his attentions, and her husband, Russell C. Scheideger, 35.

Wheeler's body was found lying beside his automobile in which he had eluded posses of two counties for nearly three hours after the Scheideger were found shot down on a downtown street.

Beside the body were two guns he had used—a 22 calibre revolver with which Scheideger had been felled and a shotgun which had been fired at Mrs. Scheideger.

The Scheidegers' 12-year-old son, Russell, Jr., who was walking home with them from a motion picture show, said Wheeler drove up beside them, jumped out and shot Mrs. Scheideger.

As she fell, her husband sprang toward Wheeler and shouted "Say, you," only to be instantly killed with another shot—this time from the revolver. Mrs. Eugene Rennicker, a neighbor, was slightly wounded by scattering shot.

Wheeler raced away toward Cadiz, 25 miles away, but was turned back near there by a sheriff's posse. He escaped and headed back to Dennison but found all roads there heavily guarded. Facing capture, he stopped his machine near the city, got out and shot himself in the heart with the shotgun, according to Coroner J. F. Lewis.

Ill feeling between the two men had existed since Wheeler roomed with the Scheidegers some time ago, police were told by the boy and Charles Copeland, 20, brother of the dead woman.

HUNDREDS GREETED TWENTY-MILLIONTH FORD IN CORSICANA

CARAVAN ARRIVED MONDAY AFTERNOON—DINNER AND PROGRAM FEATURED

Hundreds of Corsicana and Navarro county automobile fanciers visited the exhibit of the Twenty-Millionth Ford and its de luxe entourage during its stay in Corsicana Monday afternoon and evening for a brief pause in its transcontinental tour.

Leaving Ardmore, Okla., the caravan made stops at Gainesville, Sanger, Denton, Dallas, Ferris, Palmer, and Ennis before arriving in this city shortly before 5 o'clock Monday afternoon after the 170-mile jaunt, which ran the speedometer reading on the featured vehicle to almost 26,700 miles.

The caravan of 18 cars and the Twenty-Millionth Ford, with a complement of 31 men, was greeted at the city limits by Mayor J. W. Edens, L. A. Wortham, editor of the Corsicana Daily Sun; J. E. Butler of the State National bank, and Major C. H. Mills of the First National bank. Then, headed by Fire Chief Elmer Keith in his official car, the entourage paraded down Beaton street to Seventh avenue, on Seventh to Main street and north on Main street to Third before finally coming to a halt in front of R. L. Calkins Ford agency on West Fourth avenue.

Here the cars were parked in flanking arrangement to the featured product with military precision under the direction of the parade manager. After photographs were made of the crowd waiting to greet the noted car, the log was signed by the group of Corsicana citizens forming the reception committee.

Col. Hilton in Charge

Col. C. D. Hilton, personal representative of Henry Ford, presided over the log which contains thousands of signatures, including hundreds of the outstanding figures in America, officials of the 36 states through which it has passed, and countless others.

The Twenty-Millionth Ford was immediately prepared for display and spotted on the floor of the show room of the Calkins agency, while the 18 de luxe models remained on display at the curb with uniformed attendants in charge to explain the various features.

Members of the reception committee, R. L. Calkins, local dealer, and the party of Detroit and branch officials were guests at a dinner at the Navarro hotel at 6:30 Monday evening.

Beginning at 7:30 a moving picture showing scenes of interest in the various Ford plants, methods of construction of the automobiles, and spots of historic interest along the line of the tour were presented in the service room of the Corsicana agency, with a large crowd in attendance. And until 11 o'clock Monday evening the display was visited by a constant stream of citizens.

Twenty-Millionth Ford

The Twenty-Millionth Ford was completed at the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company on April 14 of this year and was driven by Henry Ford to Greenfield Village, where it was photographed with the first Ford produced in 1893, and other famous cars of the line before starting on its long jaunt. Upon the completion of the tour, the car will be placed in the Ford museum alongside its illustrious predecessors and milestones in automobile history.

The caravan left Corsicana early Tuesday morning for Hillsboro, with other stops scheduled during the day at Itasca, Cleburne, Burleson, Fort Worth, with another overnight stop at Weatherford.

Among the official party, accompanying the noted automobile were C. D. Hilton, personal representative of the maker; Charles Thompson, Miles Omalen and S. Goodspeed, all of Detroit; H. J. Burkett, Dallas branch manager; V. F. Cooper, assistant manager New Orleans branch; G. P. Montagnet, manager of the Lincoln division of New Orleans; O. F. Langs, Oklahoma City; W. S. Erskine, wholesale manager of Dallas; J. F. Giles Jr., assistant wholesale manager; F. L. Yates service manager; and Jack Barbazon, R. R. Robinson, E. K. Pollard, L. J. Donnell, R. E. Curtis, E. M. McCance, G. Gordon, J. A. Shields, M. T. Runyon, J. L. Zimmerman, W. D. Singleton, G. B. Manning, J. R. Reed, P. P. Cook, R. R. Paden, T. M. Roach, R. G. Greenstreet, C. B. Martin, M. R. Joeris, John Neal.

Official Escort

Lieut. J. D. Moffatt, in command of the Dallas division of the state highway patrol, accompanied the official party on the trip to Corsicana, and will escort them through the Dallas territory.

The caravan was accompanied by two cars equipped with public address systems, which were used for making announcements and supplying entertainment features.

A number of officials and employes of the branch offices and assembly plant in Dallas came to Corsicana Monday evening to see the exhibit. Delegations were also present from numerous Ford agencies in the area surrounding Corsicana.

EQUIPMENT ARRIVES FOR STARTING WORK ON PAVING HIGHWAY

Five railroad cars of equipment of the Arcola Construction company of Nile Center, Ill., successful bidder for the 18-foot pavement from Richland to the Navarro-Freestone county line, arrived in Richland Monday and the plant will be set up at once and the pavement will be started within the next few days, Clay Nash, county judge, stated Tuesday morning.

Much of the material for this pavement will be procured from the rock quarry near Richland and the pavement will be started at the Navarro-Freestone county line first.

Mr. Levy, president of the company, is here for a few days, and Mr. Hoover, superintendent of the work, will reside in Corsicana during the period necessary to complete the work. Mr. Hoover is bringing his family to Corsicana.

Cyr's Suit to Oust Gov. Long Thrown Out Louisiana Court

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 18. (AP)—Dr. Paul N. Cyr's suit to oust Huey P. Ling as governor of Louisiana was dismissed in Caddo district court today on grounds of no cause for action.

Judge T. F. Bell in giving his decision on Governor Long's motion to dismiss the suit denied Long's contention that the court was without jurisdiction but upheld the governor's claim that Cyr had no cause to enter suit.

Counsel for Cyr announced that an appeal would be taken to the Louisiana supreme court.

Cyr, as lieutenant governor under Governor Long, took the governor's oath on Oct. 13, and brought suit to oust Long on the contention that Long had automatically vacated the governor's chair after filing his credentials of election to the United States senate.

Cyr claimed that under the state constitution Long could not serve as senator and governor, but Long contended that he had not yet taken his seat.

Judge Bell in his opinion said it would be up to the senate to determine the status of Governor Long as senator.

"There is a very respectable authority to the effect that if Governor Long continues to act as governor after congress meets in December of this year," said the opinion, "he thereby forfeits his rights to a seat in the senate, but that is a matter for the senate to decide and is not involved in the present suit.

"In this opinion we have made no attempt to comment on authorities that might be persuasive, but have confined ourselves to such as are involved in the question presented and decided, for we feel constrained to follow them.

"From this stand point we must sustain the exceptions of no cause of action and it is so ordered."

PRACTICALLY CERTAIN NOW THAT INDIVIDUAL TAXPAYER DIG DEEPER NEXT YEAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Prospects for increased taxation continued to engross legislators today with renewed porposals for higher income levies mingling with doubt that increases are imperative in the next session.

Representative Bacharach, Republican, New Jersey, advanced a plan which contemplated a graduated increase on income taxes above $20,000, application of a gift tax and luxury taxes and an increase in estate taxes. He estimated it would bring an additional $750,000,000 in revenue.

Senate administration leaders have become convinced increased taxes will be necessary, Senator Watson, senate Republican leader, announcing yesterday after talking to President Hoover that he thought higher levies would have to come.

From a house Republican leader, Representative Hawley of Oregon, today, however, came word he was not convinced revision was a necessity.

Bacharach, a ranking Republican on the house ways and means committee, some months ago advocated higher income taxes but suggested the increases begin on incomes of $100,000. His plan would apply to 1931 incomes.

Bacharach outlined it in general terms after a conference with Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, prospective speaker of the house.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—It is now a practical certainty that the individual taxpayer must dig deeper next year for his contribution to the upkeep of government.

Just which section of the population shall bear the brunt of the increase, in what form it shall be raised and how much it will total have become commanding questions on Capitol Hill.

The administration is going to ask congress to raise more revenue. Reluctantly, the republican leaders on the hill have resigned themselves to the unpleasant task of boosting levies on the eve of a presidential campaign. The democrats, uncommitted as yet, are expected to sanction some form of new revenue.

With another billion dollar deficit to balance off, Secretary Mellon has nearly finished drafting the plan President Hoover will send to congress in his annual budget message.

Higher rates on the big-money incomes and on the large inheritances appear certain.

Considerable favor is evident in congress also for the imposition of some excise levies, applying on luxuries. The treasury has been considering this recommendation in the form of a selective sales taxes. There is no chance for a general sales tax.

Some consideration is being given to dropping down the exemptions to include more income earners.

Republican finance leaders in congress will be called in for conferences this week on the preparation of the final draft of the administration's plan.

Suicide Believed In Case School Man Found Shot Death

WINFIELD, Kas., Nov. 19.—(AP) Discovery that W. W. McConnell, superintendent of the Winfield schools, had purchased the revolver found near his body on the school grounds Tuesday night, led officers today to the belief the school man committed suicide.

Identification of the old, oddly-shaped revolver as one purchased by McConnell the day of his death was made by H. C. Linenkohl, Arkansas City pawnbroker, who said his customer had informed him he was doing much night driving and needed a weapon.

Linenkohl said he particularly noted McConnell's appearance and clothing because he stood in front of the pawnshop window gazing at the revolver several minutes before entering.

Financial reverses on some investments constitued the only motive for suicide investigators could ascribe.

CONNALLY FEELS OPTIMISTIC OVER TEXAS CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The growing list of returning legislators who are optimistic over better business prospects was augmented today by Senator Connally of Texas.

He said business conditions in his home state were beginning to show signs of improvement and predicted the meeting of congress would have a "good steadying effect."

Switching to politics, the Texas democrat said both Governor Roosevelt of New York and Newton D. Baker of Ohio had "good support" in his state for the democratic presidential nomination.

He added that Texas probably would give Representative Garner, a native son and party choice for the house speakership, strong support for the nomination.

Connally said he was preparing a bill to prohibit short selling on cotton exchanges and would attempt to get action on it in the senate agriculture committee shortly after congress convenes.

He said he was still an advocate of the export debenture plan for agricultural relief and did not believe the farm board would be abolished.

"Conditions have been unusual and there is a feeling the board has not had a fair opportunity," he said.

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 18.—(Spl.)—C. M. Zacha of Dallas received painful injuries Tuesday night when his car was struck by a cotton truck of Hog creek bridge, south of Fairfield. Mr. Zacha was trying to pass the truck when the rear end of the truck skidder into the car, which was completely wrecked.

Indian's Case to Go to Grand Jury

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The case of Golney "Mac" Seymour, 21-year-old Apache Indian accused of slaying Miss Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia University student of anthropology, will be presented to a federal grand jury tomorrow.

Miss Schmeller was stabbed and beaten to death last July. For several weeks she had lived alone on the White River Apache reservation, where she was studying Indian customs.

Federal authorities said an indictment against the Indian would do away with necessity of holding his preliminary hearing on a murder charge set for next Monday at Globe.

UTILITY MAGNATE FINDS BUSINESS IS DEFINITELY UPWARD

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle-West Utilities system, said today authentic evidence of business revival was being found a a much earlier stage of the upswing of the business cycle than was possible in final stages of earlier depressions.

"As a result of our investigations, we have established that in most areas served by our system, small-unit industries are using more electric energy than last year," President Insull said. "This gain appears to be more pronounced on the Atlantic seaboard and other regions where industries making consumption goods, such as textiles, manufactured foods and shoes are important."

The investigations referred to were conducted by Middle West Utilities operating executives in 31 states extending from Maine to Texas and from Florida to North Dakota.

ADMINISTRATION COMPLETES PLANS FOR TAX INCREASE

DETAILS HAVE NOT BEEN ANNOUNCED; SALES TAX IS PROPOSED NEXT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Increases in income taxes and imposition of a selective sales tax were recommended today by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee, an administration spokesman on revenue legislation.

Smoot proposed that the income tax rates be raised all along the line with the big boost centered on the higher incomes.

He favored a maximum sur tax of 40 per cent applying on incomes over $100,000—a rate double that now in effect.

The declaration of the finance chairman came after a visit at the treasury, where the administration's program is virtually complete. His words were regarded significantly at the capitol.

Smoot said the amount to be raised has not been finally determined by the government. He expects to be necessary to provide for an additional $1,200,000,000 by taxation.

He was uncertain how far, if at all, an attempt would be made to raise the rates on all incomes but he believed it was likely that a slight raise all along the line was inevitable.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The administration virtually completed its tax revision plan today but it probably will be kept from inquisitive congressmen until President Hoover officially submits it early next month.

While the main attention of officialdom dwelt on the White House discussion between Mr. Hoover and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, not a little of it was directed toward the treasury but a block away. There Secretary Mellon and his aides busied themselves with the finishing touches of the report headed for the president.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee went to the White House today to discuss what he said was "the necessity" of increasing taxes with President Hoover but found the chief executive in conference with Signor Grandi.

The Utah republican said he believed a proposal for a one per cent sales tax could be swung in the senate. With normal sales, he estimated, about $1,250,000,000 could be raised.

"We've got to do it," he said. "Everyone knows now that we must raise more money, an increase in taxes is the way to do it."

Smoot said he would return to the White House later to talk with the president.

At the capitol, meanwhile, senator and representatives studied how taxes might most easily be raised without hindering business recovery. Representative Snell, candidate for the republican speakership nomination, called for strict federal economy so with "a reasonable tax raise we will be able to get by."

Representative Bacharach and Representative Garner of Texas, democratic leader and ranking party member in the last house ways and means committee, today discussed the taxation question at a closed conference.

In addition, Mr. Garner has discussed the question with Representative Ramseyer of Iowa, republican member of the ways and means committee, who last year sponsored a tax increase program as the $903,000,000 treasury deficit of last year was foreseen.

On his return to the capital today, Senator Connally, of Texas, a member of the senate finance committee, aligned himself with those who favor surtaxes on higher income.

In advocating revision, he said estate taxes and gift taxes should also be raised to meet the growing treasury deficit.

The Texas democrat proposed increasing taxes on incomes above $20,000 a year. He characterized as "silly" the argument that it would drive money into tax exempt securities. Connally also contended it is cheaper for the government to borrow on tax exempt securities than to pay the higher interest rates which would be required if they were subject to taxation.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT WILL MAINTAIN NEW ROAD

CONCRETE WORK ON HIGHWAY 31 NOT TO BEGIN FOR SOME TIME YET

The state highway department will maintain the dump from Corsicana to Ward Bridge on State Highway 31 during the winter, Commissioner George W. Boyd announced Thursday afternoon. The plans of the state at the present time is to maintain this road until the 18-foot pavement is started.

County officials state they do not intend to order the pavement of this road started until after it has rained sufficiently to wet the dump at least two feet deep as the work of pounding and jetting would be very costly due to the small amount of rain since this dump was started.

The crown of this dump is about 40 feet wide and by the use of drags and graders immediately after rains, it is thought the road will be in good condition during the approaching winter. Right of way has been procured for a detour in Richland creek bottom near the bridge and the state plans to keep tractors and teams there to pull cars through during bad weather.

The state highway department is making the road from the western extremity of the 9 foot Pursley slab to Dawson an all-weather affair. A. F. Mitchell, Navarro conuty engineer, has already staked off the new right of way from the Griffin school to a point in the old road that will reduce the distance one mile, and Mr. Mitchell announced Thursday afternoon the grading of this new highway would probably start Friday morning.

The state has already placed a sand-clay cushion on a portion of this road from the Griffin school to the Pursley slab and this will be carried on to Dawson soon. Gravel will be placed on top of the sand-clay cushion.

SALE OF MEMPHIS NEWSPAPER GIVEN APPROVAL OF COURT

MINNESOTA AND ONTARIO PAPER COMPANY SECURES COMMERCIAL APPEAL

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Approval for the sale of all the outstanding capital stock of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc., to federal receivers for the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company of Minneapolis, was given today by Chancellor James B. Newman.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc., publishes the Memphis Commercial Appeal and the Memphis Evening Appeal.

Receivers for the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company purchased control of the two Memphis papers for $100,000 at an auction sale in Nashville Oct. 26 but the sale was subject to approval by the chancery court here.

Auction of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc., was made at a foreclosure sale to satisfy a $1,500,000 claim of the paper company against Southern Publishers, Inc., a holding company now in receivership.

Southern Publishers, Inc., had sold $1,500,000 of its own debentures to the paper company and pledged the stock of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc., as collateral to secure them.

When interest on the Southern Publishers, Inc., debentures had been in default for more than 60 days, the Nashville Trust company, trustee for the pledged stock, at the request of the paper company, applied to Chancellor Newman for a foreclosure sale.

A report of by the Nashville Trust company had remained on file for more than five days after the sale and no exception to it had been filed, Chancellor Newman said. Therefore, the court held the sale "is ratified and confirmed."

SPRING HILL, Nov. 19.—(Spl.)—On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14, Mrs. Ola Sparkman entertained a number of ladies in her home honoring Miss Eunice Priddy with a miscellaneous shower. After the guests arrived and Miss Berta Pendergrass saw that each was properly registered in the bride's book, Miss Elizabeth Fort rushed in with the surprise honoree who found Misses Lorene Couch and Celestine Pendergrass acting as doctor and nurse waiting to make a close examination of her and finding the bride of the week to be suffering from a fluttering heart they rushed her to a bed and when the spread was drawn back she found it loaded with numerous gifts as expressions of love from her friends.

The cutting of the bride's cake furnished much of the merriment of the afternoon which was followed by a humorous reading, "My Ideal Husband" by Miss Wilda Bills. Delicious sandwiches and punch were served. The guests departed declaring Mrs. Sparkman an ideal hostess.

Loot Recovered

The money was that which was supposed to have been taken from the bank late yesterday by a robber.

Officers said they had obtained a confession from one of the two men arrested. The confession, officers said, implicated a bank employee and was expected to clear up a previous robbery of the bank which occurred March 28.

One of the men under arrest was alleged to have been the robber who entered the bank yesterday and locked five employees in the vault. They were C. L. Hufsmith, president; Porter Cooper, cashier; O. L. Pounds, assistant cashier; Miss Ellen Gilliam, bookkeeper, and Miss Grace Officer, clerk.

Officers were preparing to file charges accusing the man of robbing the bank of several thousand dollars March 28 and attempting to rob the bank yesterday. His alleged accomplice also faced prosecution.

Shower For Recent Bride Given at Rice Saturday Afternoon

RICE, Nov. 19.—(Spl.)—Miss Ruby Hall, Mesdames Jess Pollan and L. M. Pollan entertained with a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss Hall, complimenting Mrs. Angus Sims, who was before her recent marriage Miss Joey Dyer.

In the receiving line with the hostesses and honoree were Mrs. J. S. Dyer, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Jess Dyer.

The entire first floor was decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and orange colored candles tied with pink and orange maline bows.

The dining table was laid in lace centered with autumn leaves. Yellow chrysanthemums and orange colored candles with maline bows burned in silver candle holders.

Miss Bessie Miles poured tea, and chicken sandwiches, pecan sandwiches, cookies and mints were served from silver trays by Miss Ina Allen and Mrs. Randall Dukeminier, assisted by Mrs. Jack Wilder and Mrs. Roy Hall.

An interesting program was rendered as follows:

Reading—Little Miss Lera Jeane Spencer.

Reading—Mrs. H. M. Cardwell.

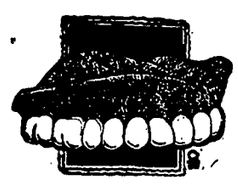

Duet—Mrs. F. K. Mathews, Miss Ila Holland.

Reading—Mrs. Sam Mitchell.

Miss Hazel Loop gave the toast to the bride. Little Mary Jo Wilder presented the gifts to the bride, followed by little Jo Anne Hall pushing a small wheel barrow, covered with autumn leaves, containing the gifts. Both were dressed in orange colored dresses trimmed in autumn leaves. The bride then unwrapped the many beautiful and useful gifts, and in her charming way expressed her appreciation. Sixty registered in the bride's book.

L. G. Haines, who was injured in automobile accident Tuesday night, was able to leave the P. and S. Hospital Thursday afternoon.

Lee Acqueta, Mexican who was shot several times Wednesday night, is in the P. and S. hospital in a serious condition.

ROBBERS FAILED OPEN FERRIS BANK SAFE LAST NIGHT

FERRIS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Bank robbers failed in an attempt to loot the vault of the Farmers and Merchants State bank of Ferris early today.

Four men captured Bob Cunningham, night watchman, while he was making his rounds and took him to the bank. They used an acetylene torch in their efforts to open the vault door but were unable to gain entry. They managed to cut a hole in it, however.

Cunningham was held captive for an hour while the men worked on the vault door. Finally they gave up the attempt and escaped. Cunningham was released uninjured.

TINTING THE HAIR.

Hair Dyeing.

Miss Forbes gives the French method for tinting the hair, which is so simple that you can do it yourself at home, or if you are timid, with one of your friends to help you.

Is your hair beginning to go gray? If so, there are several things you can do it it which are perfectly harmless and which will cover up the first gray hairs for many years. First of all, begin with strong henna shampoos. Take a heaping tablespoon of henna and mix it with enough liquid castile soap to make a thin paste. Put on loose rubber gloves so as not to stain your hands, and use this paste hot on the head. Keep rubbing it over the scalp and through the hair for five or six minutes and then rinse off. This tints the white hairs so they are less conspicious.

I've often spoken of using henna pastes. Here in France most hair tinting is done with various French combinations of henna to produce different shades. These preparations are sold all over the world. An absolute jet black which is very becoming to women with fair skin and blue eyes, but which is too trying for a wrinkled face or bad complexion, is made as follows: One ounce of powdered henna and three ounces of powdered indigo are mixed to a paste with hot water (if you want a druggist will mix these powders for you). The first time this is applied all over the head (the mixture must be cool). After half an honur it is washed off.

For a head that has gone quite gray the Paris shops first shampoo and rinse off this mixture, then make a paste out of indigo powder and hot water and put this on the hair. They leave it on from one to as long as three hours, according to the original grayness of the hair and the depth of the black. But not even as harmless a method as this is used if the scalp has any cuts or any eruptions.

When the hair is done again it is only the roots that are touched up. The henna and indigo paste is put on with the toothbrush along a parting of the hair. Divide the hair into many partings.

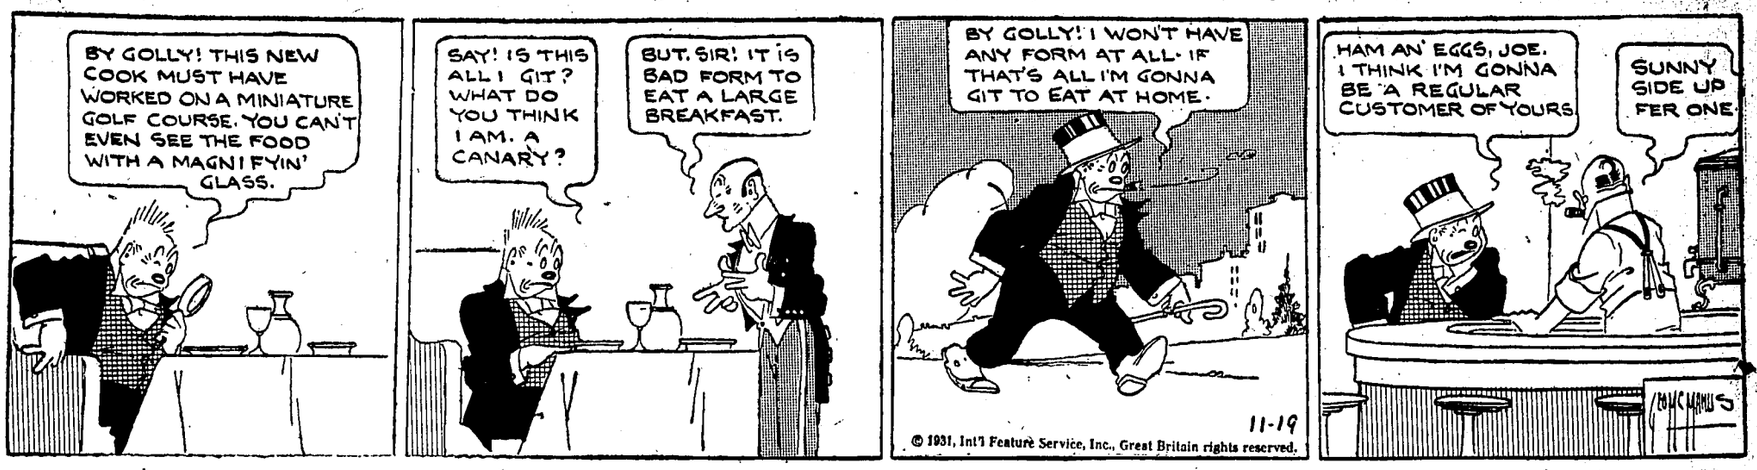

S. P.—Any shade of hair will appear to be darker if there is oil on it, and if you feel there is an advantage in having a slightly darker shade against the possibility of having soiled hat linings from the oily hair, try it out. Thin tissue paper placed over a hat lining will absorb some of the oiliness if you decide on oil to tide you ver the transition period with your hair. Of course, you should change to fresh paper each time you use the hat. There will always be an awkward period between the time when the bleaching or dyeing has been discontinued and the time when there is enough length of hair with its own natural coloring, but much of this period may be shortened if the hair is cut to the shortest possible length for becomingness; after which, clipping should be repeated weekly to get rid of the artificial coloring as fast as the length of hair may be spared. If this method is followed, the transition period between the two shades of hair will be brought down to aboutne month unless the hair grows very slowly.

Mrs. C. B. C.—You would have to follow much the same procedure if you dyed your brows and lashes as that which takes place at the beauty parlors. There is no such thing as a simple wash that would dye the lashes and brows. A strong brew made from the shells of domestic walnuts will color hair t a dark brown, and that would come the nearest to a wash of anything to a stain that is harmless, but it wears off and must be renewed frequently: and there should be very delicate handling to stain the hairs and keep away from the skin, as that will stain also.

SHORT COVERINGS IN RAILS CHECKED DECLINE IN MARKET

LOSSES OF POINT OR MORE IN EARLY TRADING WERE LATER RECOVERED

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Short covering in the rails by traders who apparently did not intend to be caught by any surprise announcement at today's railroad conference checked an early decline in the stock market today.

Losses of a point or more in Baltimore & Ohio and Atchison & Southern Pacific were fully recovered while Union Pacific, after dropping 2 to a new low, rallied a point net. Norfolk & Western and Atlantic coast line were heavy, the latter losing several points in anticipation of a dividend reducion.

Declines of 1 to 2 in Allied Chemical, American Can, General Electric, Case and American Tobacco B were mude up. U. S. Steel was steady.

Call money renewed at 2 1-2 per cent.

Mexican Shot Three Times and Another Mexican Is Sought

City Officers Seaton and Sparks answered a call about 11 o'clock Wednesday night to the corner of East Ninth avenue and South Ninth street following an altercation between two Mexicans, Librado Argeto was taken to the P. & S. Hospital, suffering with three bullet wounds. Argeto was reported in serious condition.

Officer Seaton made a trip to Carl Switch Wednesday night in search of the second man, but failed to locate him.

City and county officers were seeking another Mexican Thursday in connection with the shooting of Argeto, but no arrests had been reported Thursday afternoon. Charges have been filed.

Cotton Opened Barely Steady.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 2 to 6 points in response to easier Liverpool cables, liquidation and some Southern selling. January sold off to 6.38.

Initial offerings were fairly well taken by covering or trade buying but the selling continued and the market seemed rather unsettled during early trading, with December cutting off to 6.14 and May to 6.00 or 6 to 7 points net lower. Trading was active at the end of the first half hour with offerings absorbed by further trade buying and covering on scale down orders.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and general liquidation owing partly to weakness in Alexandria but said there were fair sales of cotton cloths to South America and Afrlca. Egyptian cotton futures in the Alexandria market were 41 to 100 points lower, while the Indian spot quotation in Liverpool showed a decline of 15 points.

The market was rather quiet all morning with prices fluctuating narrowly owing to steadier stocks and a moderate advance in wheat, prices gradually improved near noon on fair trade buying. December advanced to 6.15, January to 6.27 and March to 6.44, up 4 to 6 points from the earlier lows. This level was still 3 points below yesterday's close. At noon the market was quiet and had eased off 2 to 4 points from the previous highs under some further liquidation.

Sufficient trade buying or covering developed to check the decline but the market showed no rallying power in consequence as the bulges seemed to meet increased offerings from one source o ranother and prices at midday were within a point or two of the lows. Trading was quiet and the tone barely steady at net declines of 5 o 6 points.

Futures closed steady, 2 to 5 lower; spot quiet, middling 6.30.

New Orleans Cotton Easier.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The cotton market opened fairly active. Prices started easier owing to lower Liverpool cables and hedge selling, first trades showing losses of 7 to 9 points. There was more or less December liquidation in the way of transferring to later months.

December dropped to 6.00, January to 6.21 and March to 6.41, or 7 to 9 points under yesterday's close and then the market rallied 3 to 5 points on price fixing and short covering.

Near the end of the first hour the market was steady and near the highs.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Grain prices tended upward early today, influenced by Liverpool unofficial reports that 1,200,000 acres of wheat in Southern Argentina had been affected by frost. Some moisture relief for Western Kansas and Western Nebraska acted, however, as more or less o fa check on wheat price upturns. Opening at 1-8 to 5-8 cents gain, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started 1-8 to 5-8 up and continued to mount.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 3-4 to 1 1-8 up, oats 3-8 to 3-4 advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

RED WING KEEPS STOLID WATCH FOR POCAHONTAS

NO INDICATION INDIAN HEARD WARDEN TELL HIM OF HIS REPRIEVE

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 19.—(AP)—News that he had been given a 12-day reprieve from the electric chair failed to interrupt the stolid watch Chief Red Wing, condemned Indian, is keeping in his cell for Pocahontas.

Governor R. S. Sterling granted the reprieve late yesterday afternoon, about eight hours before Red Wing was scheduled to die.

Warden W. W. Waid took the news to Red Wing. He found the Indian staring intently at a rough sketch he made last week of Pocahontas and an Indian brave. His gaze never left the sketch and not a twitch of a muscle indicated he had heard the warden.

Guards said Red Wing had not eaten for three or four days and had called frequently for Pocahontas. On one occasion he had rummaged beneath his bunk, calling, "Pocahontas, where are you, Pocahontas?"

Red Wing was sentenced for the criminal attack and murder of a two-year-old girl in a carnival troupe of which he was a member. The reprieve was granted to permit officials to check a last minute story Red Wing told which involved another member of the troupe.

Story of Condemned Indian Fail Pan Out

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A last minute story told by Chief Red Wing, condemned to die in the electric chair for child murder, that another had committed the crime for which he was convicted, has not panned out.

William W. Sterling, adjutant general of Texas, said today a man held for questioning by Texas rangers on strength of the Indian's claim, probably would be released this afternoon.

The man Red Wing named as the actual slayer of Angelina Cavasos, two year old Cuban girl, brutally murdered at New Braunfels a year ago, was held in the Travis county jail last night.

"Red Wing's story has failed to pan out," Adjutant General Sterling said. "Close questioning of the man he accused and other evidence has about convinced us that the story was a fabrication. The man Red Wing would pin the crime on seems to have a perfect alibi."

Governor R. S. Sterling reprieved the Indian on the eve of his execution until November 30 to permit rangers to investigate the condemned man's story.

Red Wing was a member of the same show troupe with which the slain child's parents traveled. Angelina disappeared from her bed while her mother and father were doing their act in a tent theatre. Her body was found several days later. Her skull had been crushed with a rock.

Red Wing confessed he committed the crime but recently repudiated that admission.

Venire Exhausted In Attempt Secure Jury at Ardmore

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 19.—(AP) The murder trial of two former peace officers for the killing of Manuel Garcia Gomez, one of two Mexican students slain last June on a motor trip from their American college, was delayed soon after it began today by exhaustion of a jury panel.

Of 38 veniremen questioned, 29 were excused because they had opinions about the innocence or guilt of the former deputy sheriffs, William E. Guess and Cecil Crosby. Over defense objections, the court directed that 100 special veniremen be summoned at once. The defense sought to have the extra veniremen drawn from the regular jury box.

Guess was acquitted last summer of killing Emilio Cortes Rubio, the other youth slain.

Sweetheart Kills Man Over Treatment Accorded Her Dog

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Because he threatened to kill her pet Pekingese, police said, Milton Smith, 28, was shot to death today by his 21-year-old sweetheart, Tazel Blacketer.

Miss Blacketer was quoted by police as saying Smith accused her of loving "Snooks" more than he loved him. He started to leave her apartment, she said, taking the dog.

With Snooks cuddled under her fur coat, Miss Blacketer, sitting ta police headquarters, said:

"I'm sorry I shot him. But he had no business treating my dog that way."

LONG TIME PROGRAM NEEDED FOR FARMING LANDS SAYS HYDE

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde opened the land utilization conference today with ad admonition that the "pathos and problems" in farm land emphasized the immediate need for a long time program.

Called by Secretary Hyde and the Association of Land Grant Colleges, the conference was a frank admission that too much land was under cultivation.

"There is both dynamite and enlightenment," the secretary said, "in the fact that there were 84,000 fewer farms in 1930 than in 1925 but that there were 15,000,000 more acres in crops. The 366,000,000 acres more than our cultivated area in 1909, and larger than the war time peak of 1919."

The need for the conference, Secretary Hyde said, "lies in the vast waste of human and material resources now taking place in our rural areas."

A start must be made some time, he said, and "no program which we can conceive will immediately cure the present emergency. But the present emergency emphasizes the need for a start."

Whatever recommendations were forthcoming from the land conference were expected to form the ground work for state and national legislation to remedy overproduction, farm abandonment, and maladjustment of crops.

Rome At Last! The Imperialist Wins Goal -- But As A Prisoners

Strange Roads Travelled By Apostle Paul To Reach His Destination -- Light On Dark Providences

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

If the average person could only know that his present troubles are really getting him somewhere, he would be content to endure and to strive.

There is light and courage, in the case of Paul, who finally reached Rome, his goal—though as a prisoner. His experience, in being carried to Rome by the machinery of the Roman Empire itself, is as striking an instance of Providence as the movement of Joseph and Mary from Nazareth to Bethlehem by the census decree of Augustus, all that the prephecies of the Nativity might be fulfilled.

High drama marked Paul's arrival in the imperial city; demonstrating that "God moves in a mysterious way,

His wonders to perform."

Even the fertile brain of the great apostle could not have devised such a method for the fulfillment of his great ambition. Safe from mobs and enemies, because held under the protecting wing of the Roman eagles, he was carried with certainty to his destination; and in Rome itself as a ward of the state, he was saved from the riots and persecutions which he had encountered in other cities.

A Great Man's Great Dream.

As a Jewish boy in Tarsus, as a student in Jerusalem and as a far-faring itinnerant over a large part of the Empire, Paul's imagination had been fired by the authority and power of Rome. He was ever dreaming dreams of a greater Kingdom; and he audaciously yearned to see Rome itself become Christian. Every provincial capital and free city that he evangelized only made him the more eager to come to grips with the city that was the center and seat of Caesar's sway.

Few of us come to our goals by the paths we ourselves have marked out. Every great Christian life is a record of strange Providences. For one thing, none of us plan for adversity; yet adversity is one of God's most useful agents. Large ends are being accomplished, especially in the shaping of human character and human society, by the present world-wide depression which never could have been wrought by prosperity. To reach Rome, Paul had to wear a chain.

His dream was filfilled The Rome of the Caesars has today become the Rome of the Christian Church. Finest of all the great churches in the city—finer, many will agree, than St. Peter's itself—is the beautiful basilica that bears the name, and covers the tomb of the apostle himself, St. Paul's Outside The Walls.

History's verdict is expressed in the old saying, which contrasts the apostle with the cruel emperor whose prisoner he was, "Men call their dogs 'Nero;' but they name their sons 'Paul.'"

An Adventure Story.

For sheer interest and readability there are few sections of the Bible that equal the five closing chapters of the Book of Acts, which report the experience of Paul after the riot of Jerusalem, which was last week's Lesson. Thanks to the timely warning of a nephew, an extensive plot aganst his life was thwarted. A military escort bore him to Caesarea; where he was for two years an innocent prisoner.

During this time he appeared successively before Felix, Festus and Agrippa, making addresses in his own defense which as classics of oratory. In the course of these proceedings he asserted his right as a Roman citizen, and appealed to Caesar.

Therefore to Caesar he was sent, in care of Centurian Julius, with Luke and Aristarchus as his companions. But what a journey! His voyage is accurately described, and may today be followed. Hindered by mad weather, followed by a terrific storm, the little grain ship, "The Twin Brothers," was at last dashed a complete wreck, upon the shore of the Island of Malta. In this panic experience, it was Paul who emerged as the real hero, and saved the lives of his companions.

Up The Appian Way.

As readers know, I have been an extensive traveller; but the most interesting day's journey of my experience was the ride between Rome and Naples, along the Appian way. It can be done now in a single day, by motor; though I have never met another traveller who has covered it. For historic ruins and memories; for natural scenery, of mountains, plain and sea; for varied human life, there is no match for a ride along the Appian Way.

Of course, it was thoughts of Paul, and pursuit of his course that led me into this, as into a score of other priceless experiences. The slow and dusty journey of the apostle and his company, from Puteoli to Rome, is one of the triumphal marches of time. Many an emperor and conqueror has covered that route; but never one with such significance as this journey of the bald-headed, bow-legged little Jewis prisoner, with a super-imperial purpose burning in his brain.

On the way, at the Market of Appius and the Three Taverns, Paul was met by such welcoming delegations as never a Caesar knew. The Gospel had got to Rome ahead of Paul—we should never forget the great company of nameless missionaries who first carried the Good News afar—so that there was a brotherhood awaiting him and a greeting of fellowship advancing to meet him on the way. It is impossible to magnify the greateness and rewards of the communion of Christians.

Rent For the Hired House.

Some change had apparently come over the circumstances of the apostle during his stay in Jerusalem of Caesarea. Hitherto, he had supported himself by tent-making, apparently having been set off by his probably wealthy Roman family, because of his Jerusalem. Whether his relatives had become Christians and rallied to him—the friendliness of the nephew would seem to that way—or whether the love or more of them had given him an inheritance, is unknown of a certainty. It is manifestly an easy matter for Paul traveling as Julius as a prisoner, which would imply possession of money. Finally reached Rome are not low.

While thus a captive with considerable freedom, Paul did evangelistic work, calling the Jews to him; he organized and shepherded the churches that he had earlier founded; and he wrote the Epistles to the Ephesians, Phillippians, Colossians and Philemon. As he exultantly wrote to Timothy, "The word of God is not bound."

APPROACH WINTER BECOMES EVIDENT IN MANY SECTIONS

HEAVY RAINFALL EXPECTED TO AID FARMERS IN SEVERAL AREAS

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The approach of winter, heralded by storms in the mountain regions of the west over the week-end, is becoming evident in other parts of the nation.

Tornadic winds swept Oklahoma yesterday in the wake of heavy rains.

The southwest was drenched by general precipitation, an autumnal downpour that freshened grass and provided needed moisture for wheat.

Strong winds prevailed to the north. Snow or rain was the forecast for upper Michigan, Minnesota, North and South Dakota today. Rainfall in this section yesterday extended to the Great Lakes region and to eastern Tennessee.

These manifestations came as clearing skies came back to the greater part of the Pacific coast region after week-end storms which piled snow high in the uplands.

Irrigation farmers willl benefit from the heavy fall which ranged as deep as 56 inches at Norden, Calif.

The United States weather bureau said there would be more snow in the Sierra Nevada mountains of California and rains in far western Washington. Seasonal rainfall on the coast was ahead of the average to date in numerous places.

CHILD'S BED FOR NEEDY FAMILY IN COUNTY IS ASKED

Mrs. W. D. Cross has requested the Daily Sun to announce that a child's bed and bedding is badly needed by a widow, who is the mother of six small children, and who resides several miles north of Corsicana. Anyone who has these articles or one of them will confer a great favor on the mother and child if they will get in touch with Mrs. Cross.

Mrs. Cross came in contact with this needy case accidentally while making her rounds as chairman of the women's work in the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, and realizing that there was no regularly organized charity body for work in the rural districts as is the case in Corsicana, she has taken this case upon her own mind and is asking the good people to aid in a case which she has investigated and found worthy indeed. The father of the family died several months ago.

FARM BOARD WILL HOLD COTTON OFF MARKET AS PLANNED

FAILURE SOUTHERN BANKERS TO MEET FULL PLAN NOT AFFECT AGREEMENT

DALLAS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Times-Herald says officials of the federal farm board have assured representatives of Southern bankers that the original agreement made Oct. 12 at New Orleans between the two groups for holding cotton from this year's market may be modified.

The paper says it has "authoritative reports" that bankers of the South, under the chairmanship of Nathan Adams of Dallas, were able to obtain pledges from bankers to hold approximately 3,000,000 bales of this year's crop—500,000 bales short of the figures stipulated by the farm board as the condition necessary before it would keep 3,500,000 bales of last year's surplus from the market.

However, the article continues, government representatives have agreed to disregard the bankers' lack of success in fulfilling their part of the agreement and will adhere to its original promise to withhold approximately 3,600,000 bales from the market until next July.

Failure of the bankers' quota was attributed to lack of support from Mississippi bankers, who did not pledge to hold back one-fourth of this year's crop, as was done by nine other contton-growing states. That state's quota was approximately 500,000 bales.

Adams was out of the city and could not be reached for a statement.
